

Bishop's Appeal Moves Anglicans

Dollars for Stained Glass, Cents for Gospel?

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que. (CP)—Rt. Rev. Ivor Norris, Bishop of Brandon, Man., Wednesday appealed to the Anglican Church of Canada—and all Christian Canadians—to "face up to the task of Christianizing" the Orient.

He complained that Canadian parishes seemed to prefer spending money on "stained glass windows" rather than spreading the gospel.

In an address which obviously moved delegates to the church's 20th general synod deeply, Bishop Norris described his recent tour of Anglican missions in the Far East and urged a much greater contribution from the Canadian church.

"How difficult it is for new nations to achieve self-government without the foundation of decency, honesty and respect for women and children which Christianity supplies," he said.

"We are teaching children to read," Bishop Norris said, "but we give them no Christian literature to read and they are turning Communist because the Communists supply them with literature."

He told of visiting missions in places like Hong Kong, under imminent threat of Communist engulfment, where refugees from behind the Bamboo Curtain have swamped the already taxed facilities of the church.

"There are so few to do so much for these millions," Bishop Norris said.

All countries in the East face the problem of over-population, he said, and "I wonder if there is not going to be great catastrophe when the supply of food is simply not going to be large enough to feed the population."

And what, he asked, is the church going to say about the questions of compulsory sterilization and compulsory abortion which have arisen in some over-populated countries?

"We are not even thinking about these problems," Bishop Norris said.

The proportion of church money devoted to missionary work is dropping since "parishes often love to spend money on red carpets and stained glass windows and give what is left over to missions."

The real job is to spread the gospel, he told the delegates, and "winning the world for Christ is one of the greatest tasks before the church."

Crash Kills Teenage Salesgirls

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A twin-engine plane crashed Tuesday night in a storm, killing six teenage girls on a magazine subscription tour, their crew chief and the pilot.

The plane was 300 miles southwest of here when the pilot reported he was lost in a storm and running low on fuel. Wreckage was found yesterday.

The girls had been selling magazines in Alaska for several weeks and had just finished the tour at an Eskimo village above the Arctic Circle.

Calcutta Violence Out of Hand

CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—Police opened fire on rioting mobs last night after screaming, Communist-led demonstrators attacked police stations and vehicles in the third day of almost uncontrollable violence.

Rioters smashed street lamps and in some localities attacked police stations with small bombs and showers of brickbats.

UNION, FIRMS 'WON'T BUY' STRIKE SETTLEMENT PLAN

Adverse Comment Given; No Official Refusals

Small hope for quick settlement of B.C.'s coast lumber strike was seen last night in the proposals of mediator Dr. John J. Deutsch.

On the major issue, wages, he recommended an increase of 10 cents an hour this year and 10 cents an hour next year.

But he reported to Labor Minister Lyle Wicks he had not been able to achieve agreement between the IWA District Council No. 1 and the employers represented by Forest Industrial Relations.

NOT JUSTIFIABLE

And John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, said the 20-cent boost over two years was "higher than the industry could consider justifiable," although the proposal would be submitted to the individual companies.

Joe Morris, IWA district president, wouldn't comment pending consideration of the Deutsch report by the union policy committee.

But the president of the largest IWA local, Syd Thompson, said in Vancouver last weekend that the union "will never buy" a settlement of 20 cents an hour over two years.

HE WAS WRONG

If Dr. Deutsch was toying with the idea that this proposal would settle the strike, he said, he was wrong.

The 20 cents an hour would represent an 11.5 per cent increase in two years over the present minimum or base rate of $1.72, or a 9.5 per cent increase over the present average wage of $2.10.

The IWA originally sought an increase of 20 per cent, but reduced its demand to 12 per cent (or 21 cents this year) just before the $1,000,000-a-day strike began July 6. The operators' last offer was an increase of 12 cents over two years.

Multi-Million Racket

Detectives Jailed In Dope Cleanup

CHICAGO (UPI)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted 21 persons, including three top Chicago police detectives and a former federal narcotics agent, in what the justice department called the smashing of a coast-to-coast narcotics ring.

The indictments charged detectives Sheldon R. Teller, 39, Miles J. Cooperman, 30, and Richard E. Austin, 38, with conspiracy to violate the federal narcotics laws.

Also accused was Edward Richardson Gayles, a Negro who worked as a federal narcotics agent from 1950 to 1952, and who is now practicing law in Chicago.

The three policemen and Gayles were arrested before the indictments were released and were locked up in Cook County jail. Bonds for each of them were set at $5,000.

Max Goldstein, a special U.S. attorney general who has been conducting the investigation into Chicago's narcotics traffic since last February said "these indictments will break the back of a multi-million dollar dope racket."

Hero's Welcome

'I Love You All,' Says Ike To Cheering Frenchmen

PARIS (UPI)—More than 1,000,000 wildly cheering, flag waving Frenchmen gave President Eisenhower a hero's welcome yesterday when he returned to this French capital his armies liberated 15 years ago. The crowds shouted "Vive Ike" and the delighted president thanked them in French with the words, "I love you all."

Paris yesterday morning were enthusiastic but last night the Parisians cast restraint to the winds when he drove up the broad hero's boulevard—the Champs Elysee.

30-Hour Week Advocated

MONTREAL (UPI)—Delegates attending the 25th international convention of the Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers' Brotherhood (CLC) Wednesday went on record as being in favor of a 30-hour work week for all contract mills.

Teeth Fall Out For Inspection

LONDON (CP)—"Attention!" roared Maj. John Dick-see.

Forty pairs of boots clicked in unison on a parade ground in Cumberland.

Something else clicked. A small object glittered on the parade square.

"Troops ready for inspection sir," the major mumbled indistinctly.

Stiffly the commanding officer stepped over the object and inspected the troops.

Behind his back, the major bent over and retrieved a complete set of false teeth.

Vancouver Girl Miss PNE

VANCOUVER (CP)—A blonde-streaked brunette Vancouver lass Wednesday night was named Miss PNE and the winner of more than $1,000 in prizes.

Anna Finlayson, 18, a high school student, won over 26 other contestants from all parts of British Columbia. As Miss PNE, Anna also wins the title "Miss B.C. Lion." About football, she says:

"I understand it but I've never played it."

Juvenile Crimes Soaring

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover reported yesterday that the number of juveniles arrested for serious crimes rose by 8.1 per cent last year. Their offenses helped push the national crime rate 9.3 per cent above 1957.

Of 2,340,004 persons arrested more than 12 per cent were under 18.

One youngster whose return to school will be a bit delayed is eight-year Kelly Patterson, 2849 Knotty Pine Road, who sustained a fractured skull and a broken arm in an accident this week when his bicycle

'Cage Them Like Wild Animals' Says Priest of Street Gangsters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police seized a teenaged "Dracula" yesterday for the street gang slayings of two boys which raised a demand for jailing of all the city's 7,000 juvenile gang members.

A prominent Roman Catholic priest paused during the funeral mass of one of the stabbing victims to appeal for mass arrests of street toughs and denounce "do-gooders" who say there is no such thing as a bad boy. He said the gang members should be caged "like wild animals."

The attack by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. McCaffrey came only a few hours after Salvatore Agron, a 16-year-old tough-looking effeminate-looking "Dracula" dictator of the Vampires gang, was arrested with his chief lieutenant, a tattooed tough known as "the umbrella man" because he beats his victims with an umbrella. Both are Puerto Ricans.

"I don't care if I burn," Agron snarled at police. "My mother can watch."

Agron and 17-year-old Tony Luis Hernandez, "the umbrella man," were arrested after a policeman found them foraging for food in a garbage can near the vacant Bronx tenement where they had holed up since the Sunday slayings in an unlighted playground in Manhattan's Hell's kitchen area.

Hernandez admitted beating three or four boys with a club and his umbrella. Dracula admitted he wielded a long knife, but denied he killed anyone.

"I cut somebody early Sunday, but I didn't kill anybody," he said.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

METZ, France.—In the PX—meaning post exchange, an American term which has been adopted by the RCAF—I saw radios that would cost $150 in Canada selling at $50, and various gadgets, including cameras, record players, tape recorders and electric frying pans and toasters—selling at from one-third to one-half of their Canadian price. Forty-ounce bottles of Scotch were priced at $2.

The grocery stores and post exchange are managed by a committee representing all the personnel on the station, and run at a modest profit.

All profits from stores and canteens and from dances go into station funds, which pay for sports equipment and other useful things.

One reason why many goods in the PX are so cheap is that they are tax-free. Strict rules exist against re-selling such things to civilians. A man must have an article in his possession for at least six months before he can take it to Canada tax-free. This rule is enforced to the letter. Homecoming men who have bought a German or English car with them have been known to plead with stevedores at the docks in Montreal to hold back the cargo until they just one more minute, so that they can qualify for six full months' ownership, and save hundreds of dollars in duty.

Distorted Idea Given

The low price of some commodities can give the visitor a distorted idea of the Canadian serviceman's living costs. People don't live on wine, or buy record-players, and cameras every day—even though the savings are so large. Some of them are tempted to spend all their pay. There are so many things I can't afford not to buy, that it keeps me broke," is a common saying. Numbers of things are expensive. Repairs to cars and gadgets are costly, spare parts hard to get, and servicemen inclined to dawdle and fail to turn up. Few people have telephones. Automobile insurance costs twice as much as in Canada. In France and Germany, military personnel can get gasoline for the equivalent of 25 cents a gallon, but if they go outside, they must pay the same rates that civilians do—$1 a gallon. The biggest advantage of being here is the chance to travel. Nearly every Canadian has a car. A family can jump in the car and spend a day castle-hunting in Luxembourg, or go off on leave to Holland, Norway or Spain. Those with large families go camping with trailers, to save expenses. A patriotic Canadian may be gripped when he is reminded vividly here that his country is a small power. Canadian forces are dependent upon the United States for many things.

Paid in U.S. Money

People are paid in United States currency, for convenience, and all prices on the stations are in United States money.

The newsstands on the stations are supplied by an American company. They refuse to carry such Canadian magazines as Maclean's, the Star Weekly and Liberty, because, they declare, it wouldn't pay them. "You can understand that they couldn't afford to bother with such small quantities just for us," an RCAF officer told me.

So the stations generally have small supplementary magazine stands near the big stand. At the little stalls, two or three Canadian magazines are available. The only sources of news are the U.S. Army paper, "Stars and Stripes" and the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune.

Milk is bought from the United States, which imports it from Denmark and Holland and runs it through U.S. Army pasteurization plants. Canadians use United States gasoline coupons.

Movies for the station cinemas are secured through a Royal Air Force circuit. But in general, Canadian forces depend a great deal upon the large-scale facilities of the U.S. Army, which are made available to this country's forces too.

For Canada to duplicate these services on her own would be very costly. That is one of the penalties of being a small nation.

Independence Of Courts Vital Need

VANCOUVER (CP)—Assuring independence of the courts is one of the greatest responsibilities of the legal profession, the outgoing president of the American Bar Association said Wednesday.

Ross L. Malone of Roswell, N.M., a former U.S. deputy attorney general, told the Canadian Bar Association annual meeting.

"Only in courts with such independence will the rights of individual citizens be adequately protected. The independence of the courts could continue only so long as they were undergirded by public understanding and confidence."

Lacks Respect

Magistrate Status 'Inferior'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A study of the magisterial system in Canada was called for Wednesday by segments of the Canadian Bar Association.

The criminal justice section, at the suggestion of Saskatoon lawyer J. M. Goldenberg, undertook to carry out a study of the magisterial system and come up with recommendations to improve it.

Mr. Goldenberg described the magistrate-court system in Canada as a "conveyor-belt system of administering justice."

Mr. Goldenberg, who has been working for two years to promote improvement in the magisterial system in Canada, called for a study by the section in all provinces.

It would involve appointment, qualification, salary and security of tenure of magistrates and the overloading of magistrate court calendars and would make recommendations that might lead to improvement.

Mr. Goldenberg said that legal definition terms magistrates' courts as "inferior" courts but "there is nothing inferior in what they have to do."

This definition, however, influenced the entire approach to the matter of appointment, qualification, salary, tenure of office and status within the community. The magistrate did not have the same respect as superior court appointees—judges.

Canada Bill of Rights Inevitable—Lawyers

Any Debate On Issue Now Academic

VANCOUVER (CP)—The civil liberties section of the Canadian Bar Association discussed a Canadian bill of rights for 2½ hours Wednesday.

When the discussion was adjourned there was indication of unanimity on only one point: a Canadian bill of rights, in whatever form it takes, is inevitable because of the determination of the present federal government to put one on the statute books.

It was not clear whether the members of the association wanted a bill of rights or what form they felt it should take. Nor was it obvious whether the majority felt there were specific, inalienable rights that could be set out in a bill of rights.

At the outset, section chairman David Mundell of Toronto said that the government obviously had decided to have a bill of rights and "whether or not there should be one is water over the dam."

He also said that since prime minister Diefenbaker had withdrawn the proposed

Dr. M. C. Shumiatcher, Regina: "A bill of rights without more tangible provisions may serve to deceive the people into believing that rights do exist when in fact they do not."

R. M. Willies Chitty, Toronto: "It may do no real good—we may have all these rights already—but unless it is in writing, half at least of our courts won't enforce it."

Louise-Philippe Pigson, Quebec City: "If the federal government could legislate on civil rights for all provinces, then there would be no subject on which the federal government could not legislate to the exclusion of the provinces."

bill of rights placed before parliament and sent it to a house-senate committee for study, criticism of the wording of the draft bill would serve no useful purpose.

VARIED VIEWS

These are some of the views expressed:

Gordon Rae, Vancouver: "I think members of the CBA are against a bill of rights... but if we are to do it we should do it by amending the British North America Act."

COLORFUL NEW PHONES give your home new convenience and luxury

This attractive phone really saves steps—especially in kitchens. It's convenient to use, yet takes up so little work space. Now in a wide range of glamorous colors, plus black, to harmonize with any decorating scheme. You'll find an extension phone is the handiest appliance in your kitchen. And extension phones in any room—bedroom, workshop, playroom or den—save thousands of steps, many minutes of valuable time. Installation of extension phones, is free, and the monthly rental is small. There is a moderate additional charge for a color phone, but you pay this only once.

THE "SPACE-SAYER"—This handy phone is wonderful in basement workshops, laundry rooms—wherever you want the convenience of a phone without giving up any working area. It can be installed in a small space—even on the side of a work table!

DEAF SETS—Similar in appearance to regular desk telephones, this phone provides "normal hearing" facilities for subscribers who are hard-of-hearing. An inconspicuous control knob allows the user to adjust the volume of incoming voices to the most convenient level.

SPEAKERPHONE—Now you can do two things at once—talk on the phone, and carry on another job. When the phone rings, you just touch a button and talk. You don't have to lift or hold the receiver. Your caller's voice comes clearly through a conveniently placed loud-speaker box.

PORTABLE PHONE—This telephone goes where you go, plugs in where you want it. Imagine the convenience of taking calls on the sun deck or patio; moving the phone from playroom or living room to the peace and quiet of your bedroom or den. You can have outlets installed wherever they're most convenient. The cost is low.

EXTENSION BELLS AND BONGS—Don't miss important calls by not "hearing" the phone ring. Extension bells can be installed in the garden, patio or garage—wherever outdoor work and play take you beyond earshot of the ordinary telephone bell.

For complete information about these and other telephone conveniences for your home, call your telephone company business office.

IWA, Firms Cool to Plan

released by Mr. Wicks simultaneously to FIR, the IWA and the press, recommended:

1. An increase of 10 cents an hour across the board effective from June 15, and an additional 10 cents from June 15, 1960.

2. A further increase of 10 cents an hour for all journey-men tradesmen, in addition to the general wage increase.

3. Immediate implementation in the plywood industry of a job evaluation program worked out under a 1955 memorandum of understanding.

4. Establishment on a trial basis of a joint examining committee of union and management to determine wage rates for new jobs and find if wage adjustments are indicated where significant changes have been made in the nature of existing jobs.

5. Several minor contract amendments.

"In making my recommendations concerning wages I have given most careful consideration," he said, "to both the economic circumstances of the industry and the existing level of wages of the workers in relation to these circumstances and in relation to the movement of wages generally in the province."

"In the light of my analysis I am of the opinion that the settlement I have recommended would be fair and reasonable to both the workers and the companies."

Mr. Morris said that he was not prepared to comment at this time on the conclusions contained in the report.

It would be submitted to the policy committee at the earliest opportunity, he said—and his office said this might take a few days—and when the committee had reached a decision, the report and the committee recommendations would be submitted to the membership.

Mr. Billings said two prominent educators of the University of B.C. had made two quite different proposals.

"The industry accepted the recommendation of the conciliation board chaired by Dean Curtis and offered 12 cents per hour increase over two years, with six cents extra for journeymen," he said.

"Dr. Deutsch's recommendation appears to be influenced almost wholly by a pattern of sharp wage increases obtained recently in non-export and service industries of the province. It ignores greatly deteriorated lumber market conditions which have taken place in the last few weeks despite the cessation of production in the coast area....

"If the wage increases forced on industries and services that can pass these extra costs along to consumers were to be adopted by the export industries, B.C. would quickly suffer the disaster of lost export markets."

Mr. Wicks would say only that the proposals were now "in the parties' hands."

Contrary to all press reports, he said, he had had the report for less than 24 hours. He could truthfully say, he added, that "I had no advance information on its contents."

Island Students Win UBC Awards

Two Vancouver Island students were among 36 attending University of B.C. awarded scholarships for further study at the university.

'Fast Buck' Worship Scored

Views on Gambling Differ

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lotteries, Sunday baseball and toys in cereal boxes, taken together, lower Canada's moral standards, says Stewart McMorran, Vancouver city prosecutor.

Mr. McMorran, one of five panelists discussing lotteries, bingos and other forms of gambling at the annual Canadian Bar Association convention here Wednesday, said all three make small inroads into a person's character.

John G. Ferry of Vancouver, who said gambling such as football pools became a sort of religion. People came to worship "the fast buck" and their standards of Christianity and morality began to slip.

Mr. McMorran said thinking people did not want their children chasing something for nothing, sitting back and waiting for the breaks. If this happened "generations to come will turn this country into a pretty rotten place to live in."

Erwin Swangard, managing editor of the Vancouver Sun, took an opposite view. He said he could find nothing wrong with supervised lotteries. It was up to parents to see that their children developed the right way and up to the church to sell its own philosophy to counter declining morality.

wrong with government-supervised lotteries.

The fifth panelist — Jack Webster, New Westminster radio commentator — drew loud applause when he said of gambling:

"The law in this respect is an ass. It's an imperfect, sinful world we live in and the best we can do is to do away with the hypocritical, stupid laws we now have on gambling."

"We need clear-cut, sensible gambling laws that can be properly upheld by police without bringing them into public ridicule."

Cut of Income For Church Suggested

STE. ANNE DE BELLE-VUE, Que. (UPI) — A church official suggested yesterday that the 515,000 Anglican households in Canada contribute 5 per cent of their annual income to support a vast three-year expansion program of the Anglican Church of Canada.

Rt. Rev. R. H. Waterman, Bishop of Nova Scotia and chairman of the church's budget committee, told delegates attending the 20th general synod there was a disparity between what Canadian Anglicans were capable of paying for church work and what they were willing to pay.

Bishop Waterman said the 5 per cent tithe could be broken down to a contribution of $1 per Sunday per $1000 of income.

He said this would give the church an annual income of over $100,000,000.

Freedomites Must Remain

RUSSIA'S refusal to admit mass migration of British Columbia's Sons of Freedom for permanent settlement in Siberia does not surprise Premier Bennett or Attorney-General Bonner. It is not likely to surprise anyone who has studied the problem and the train of events leading up to the overtures to the Soviet government. The Freedomites offered themselves as settlers on terms which would have entailed special privileges not accorded to other citizens of the Soviet bloc; and Russia is not noted for ready acceptance of other people's bargaining terms.

When the Freedomites announced their intention to shake the dust of British Columbia from their restless feet the federal and provincial governments both went out of their way to facilitate departure. The possibility, even remote, of Canada being rid at last of this fanatical sect was hailed with joy, but without optimism. It is doubtful if those in authority ever believed that anything would come of the plan, for it was not the Sons' first "threat" to forsake Canada. However, anything that might relieve Canada of their irksome presence was worth trying.

Now the situation is back to normal, and in the vernacular of the day Canada and the Freedomites are stuck with one another. Canada can't throw them out because they are Canadian citizens; and the Sons can't leave the country because no one else will have them—and small wonder. No country, least of all Communist Russia, wants to accord citizenship and the advantages of its institutions to people who hold themselves above all man-made laws.

This world may be no Utopia, but the Freedomites whether they like it or not are inhabitants of it; and somehow it must be driven home to them that only they can make livable the country to which they owe but will not pay allegiance. Could the Sons but realize it, they are their own worst enemies—their only enemies. Their chief characteristic is a mixture of childish innocence and cunning, with a thick overlay of hypocrisy manifested in their love of publicity. They invite persecution and when it is not forthcoming invent it, following the lead of professional martyrs.

Now that the migratory route towards peace has been closed all that is left to the authorities to do is to take up again their campaign to educate the Freedomites in the ways and responsibilities of civilized human beings, backed by firm application of the law. It is a dejecting prospect.

A Growing Federation

CLEAR-CUT definition of the federal government's aim for the governance of the Canadian northlands was afforded by Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton in the course of a visit to Vancouver this week. Ottawa, he said, is preparing the groundwork now for the emergence of the Yukon and various parts of the Northwest Territories one day as separate and provincially autonomous provinces. That is much to be preferred to altering the bounds of existing provinces through a more or less arbitrary partition of the northlands which overlie them all. Also it preserves and extends in natural order and sequence the central unity of confederation which has served Canada so well.

In this concept the Yukon can expect its own provincial administration one day as a separate and self-governing province in the union. The same thing, no doubt, will apply to vast regional areas in the Peace River and in the Mackenzie River basin in the west, and to their counterparts in the eastern half of the country. Exploration and development in the last ten years have opened up an amazing range of northern territory to occupation and quasi permanent settlement. It is only reasonable to expect that as time goes on and population expands much of this territory will become relatively as thickly settled as are most parts of Canada. Nationally, it is all new wealth and wholly within the control of this nation.

Canada's northlands are the great reserves of future economic and other potential. The development of so vast an area may be gradual, but population and need will take care of that. The existing ten provinces as they stand have enough on their hands in looking after the redoubled settlement within their own borders. Looking ahead, there is nothing to stop the Yukon, the Peace and the Mackenzie from growing into separate provincial status in their own time. Rather than weaken confederation that would add strength to it, and permit of rational and unforced development as time and opportunity offer. Also, coming from the Dominion, Mr. Hamilton's statement was welcome proof that elision of the provinces is not a federal objective.

They Followed John

IF Liberals were elated over their expected victory in Newfoundland last month their spirits have been redampened by the unexpected defeat this week in Prince Edward Island. Mr. Smallwood's proposed crusade across the country obviously had better pass P.E.I. by, since the mood there is inimical to his desires. It was expressed also in unmistakable terms.

Upsets in governments are not rare but they come seldom enough to make a startling change notable. The sweeping return of the Progressive Conservatives in Prince Edward Island after many years in opposition is therefore bound to dim Liberal hopes briefly roused a month ago. If the Diefenbaker influence failed to affect provincial voters in Newfoundland it found a strong echo in the nearby smaller province of Canada.

It is the size of the Conservative victory that is impressive. With a dominating 27 out of 30 seats in the last legislature the Liberals are now reduced to a skeletal allotment of seven seats. The reversal is thus nearly identical. Eighteen straight gains were made by the Conservatives directly from Liberal opponents, thus emphasizing in no uncertain fashion the swing to the Conservative side.

Coincidentally the result is similar to the pattern of voting after the Bennett administration took office at Ottawa in 1930. On that occasion the provincial Conservatives followed the federal Conservatives into power. History has repeated itself, with Prince Edward Island electors taking the first opportunity to show they prefer that both governments should be of the same party flavor.

This latest provincial election, a distinct feather in the cap of premier-elect Walter Shaw, leaves Newfoundland as the only Liberal-governed province in all of the Dominion. The situation must appear very doleful for the Liberal cause in Canada.

New Japan, Old Pressure

By RONALD F. KRIS
United Press International

TOKYO (UPI) — Fourteen years have passed since Japan, reeling and half-starved, surrendered unconditionally to end the Second World War.

The nation lay in ruins in August, 1945. More than 1,850,000 servicemen and civilians had been killed. Whole cities had been leveled. Tokyo, the capital, was nine-tenths destroyed. Hiroshima and Nagasaki still were wondering what had hit them. Industry was at a standstill; its factories ruined and its supplies cut off.

Now the cities have sprung up again. Hunger has been routed by a series of bumper crops. A merchant fleet cut to one-fifth its size has regained its pre-war tonnage. The economy has grown at the impressive average rate of 10 per cent a year.

All this adds up to one of the great come-back stories of the century, rivaling even West Germany's phenomenal recovery. The Japanese nation is back on its feet.

Some treacherous pitfalls still may lie along its path. The same pressures that led Japan to war for East Asian supremacy exist today. Actually, these pressures have been amplified.

Land is scarce and people are not. This is the basic problem.

There are now 92,000,000 Japanese squeezed into four home islands whose total area is less than that of the State of California. The population will probably reach 100,000,000 within a decade. Yet when Japan launched its fight for a place in the sun, it had only 70,000,000 people and more territory.

The unrestrained militarism of the 1930s no longer exists. But another factor went into the thinking that persuaded Japan's leaders to go to war—authoritarianism—and whether this has been stamped out is debatable.

Middle-of-the-roads have struck a successful balance so far, but it may be a precarious one.

The democracy that the Allies tried to infuse into Japan during the days of the occupation has led to some excesses and some doubts, and the authoritarians of right and left are ready to exploit these doubts.

My earliest recollection is of troops embarking for the Boer War, albeit I was such a tot then I may only imagine this because of subsequent reading. A short 14 years later however reality dispelled imagination and a mere 21 years after that holocaust ended there came the renewal being recalled this week.

You might say that while Canada boomed and blossomed after the cease fire of 1945—much more happily than after 1918 and surely some tribute to the better management of peacetime tasks—we have still been at war. Certainly the temper of dispute has seldom lessened—there was Korea for instance—and even while this week we recall 1939 one of the celebrities of that conflict is over in Europe trying to prevent a resumption of militant relations.

We should pray for his success. For all its excitement, its glamour, its sharpening of human progress, its comradeships, the heartbreak of war is too great a price to pay. We need no fresh old soldiers in future.

"There's still D-for-DeGaulle Day"

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THIS week the records are being turned back 20 years, to the moment in 1939 when Canada went to war. It was unofficial to begin with, since Parliament followed on ten days later, but real nevertheless. As the 5th Regiment noted a week ago men had moved into the forts of this area, and the Army was a scene of hectic excitement. Nations like ours are never ready for war.

Macleans has a flashback on the subject and one is arrested by the statement that on September 1, when Hitler showed his hand, there were nearly half-a-million men out of work in this country. That situation was corrected overnight as khaki enveloped them in mass volunteer recruitment. Wars are terrible things but fortunately they do have some blessings, although those bereaved by battle have ample reason to disagree.

Yet war, besides curing unemployment, does spur progress in many ways. Medical technique is advanced because sheer necessity invites discovery. Industry learns new tricks and skills. Society alters its perspective and the whole way of life is changed for ever. That is why the periods between wars are so unlike. In my own lifetime there are three distinct phases: pre-1914, betwixt the world wars, and post-1945. Each of these eras have been unlike the other.

Looking back it seems to have been the fate of my generation that peace was but the intervals between armed conflicts. When I was small an old soldier was something of a stranger, even if Empire history of those days was replete with military campaigns. Now the world is full of old soldiers, tens of thousands of them still young and not a bit old.

True enough wars, even modern ones, don't last for ever and their totality in a lifetime covers only a comparatively few years. (We are promised that the next one may last only a few hours, but with connotations which suggest that brevity would be no boon.) But for those concerned war is a vivid experience that grows rather than diminishes in retrospect. We have therefore, those of my generation, been fashioned by war.

Reports From Ottawa

SOME months after Suez, the United States, British and French governments in effect condemned our oil to remain in the ground while the Western world got as much as it could out of the Middle East while the getting was still good.

And in effect the Borden Commission report on oil says, "Nuts to that—we want to sell our oil now."

That's the real international significance of the commission's effort to bludgeon the international oil companies into buying an extra 165,000 barrels of Canadian oil a day for refining in the U.S.

I say "bludgeon" because U.S., British, Belgian and Dutch parent companies are to be told through their Canadian offspring that if they don't arrange additional imports of Canadian oil by the U.S. equal to the oil from Venezuela and the Middle East which they sell to their Canadian subsidiaries, the latter oil will be barred from the Montreal refining area.

Venezuelan and Middle East oil flows into Montreal by tanker and pipeline at a rate of 250,000 barrels a day. Six foreign-controlled companies refine in the Montreal area—Imperial, British-American, Shell, Texaco, Petrofina and British Petroleum. The parents of all but Petrofina control large reserves in the Middle East; of all but BP control large reserves in Venezuela.

The Montreal refiners are being told they must cut imports by 50,000 barrels a day, and allow their refinery products customers between Cornwall and Hamilton, Ont., to be supplied by Toronto refiners using Canadian crude.

In addition, they are being given to the end of 1960 to use their international connections to get Canadian crude sales to the U.S. increased to 165,000 barrels a day. If they fail, the penalty proposed by the Borden commission is to make Montreal a captive market for western Canadian oil. The government would force the refiners to use Canadian oil delivered to Montreal by a west-east pipeline.

As noted earlier, this would be counter to the Western political plan to get as much oil out of the Middle East as possible by 1962, in anticipation of increasing political difficulties in that area.

Also, it would hurt the parent companies financially. On the oil they ship to Montreal they make both production and transportation profits. They have to keep up oil production in the Middle East or risk losing their concessions. And finally, they are able to write off against U.S. income tax the oil royalties they pay foreign government.

I have a deep seated suspicion that the commission proposals were cleared with Prime Minister Diefenbaker before being written into the commission report.

For one thing, they have the Diefenbaker touch. For another, the commission's gas report embarrassed the government a year ago. Both the commission and the government might be expected to guard against further embarrassment. And finally, the unexplained delay between completion of the report by the commission and the printing and release of the report to the public. It was printed only last Thursday night, less than 24 hours before it was released, and days after the government had received it.

Yet the printers told me on Thursday that they were still receiving changes to be made in the printed report.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

MY niece, Alexandra, has several children progressing like a small procession towards their teens. She has had them at a summer cottage all season and is thinner now than she was in June.

"They are too young to keep quiet," she says, "and too old to go to bed at eight."

They have had poison ivy, fish hooks in their fingers, mosquito bites, deer fly bites and what is suspected of being a spider bite or two. They have upset the canoe, run out of gas in the outboard, broken the oars, lost the anchor, pushed bulges in all the green doors, broken a window, shoved a stick through a window screen, dropped a wrist watch down the privy, and found a wasp's nest.

They have had feuds and formed ever-changing cliques with the children of the neighboring cottages. They have had the sulks, and staged a few whoops-and-hollers, played the record player by the hour with boogie records that were all the rage back in 1946, and been late for 133 meals. They have lost two bathing suits, five shoes, three sweat shirts, a bath towel and two life preservers.

"This winter," says their mother piously, "I am going to take a real interest in our Home and School Club. I think our public school system is the most wonderful thing. Gosh, how glad I'll be to get them back into it!"

Summer is again out.

Phone the Doctor

THE recently publicized practice of making a charge for telephone calls has aroused some shallow criticism.

Such a charge should discourage a great many nuisance calls with which most physicians in private practice are bothered, including repeated calls from patients who really don't need medical advice, but feel better after they have had a talk—sometimes prolonged—with their doctor.

If the patient who travels to the doctor's office and waits there must pay for medical advice, why not the patient who gets advice by phone, with minimum inconvenience to himself?

Ugly Temper

Wringing NATO's Neck

By CASSANDRA, from London

M. DEBRE, France's prime minister, is fast wringing NATO's neck. His latest words must bring rejoicing to Khrushchev's heart.

He accuses the British of being guilty of a hypocritical campaign against his country and makes an even wider condemnation of the Americans.

He says of the United States: "We have always been favorable to the Atlantic alliance... What we have always roused ourselves against is the transformation of the Atlantic alliance which had the effect that the Americans, instead of being allies, were becoming the masters or the would-be masters of France, and made Europe, instead of an association of nations, a sort of national block in which the national personality of France was being lost and at the same time the liberty and the soul of her citizens were in danger of being lost."

Absolute poppycock.

I have never felt particularly sorry for President Eisenhower, who should never have taken up politics. But I'm beginning to sympathize with him now. He has to deal with de Gaulle and his henchmen in their present ugly temper. Dr. Adenauer at his very worst and Khrushchev in full spate.

Mr. Macmillan, even in his most unbearable mood of Edwardian archness, must have been a relief for the tormented president.

SOUTH AFRICA is one of the more fabulously endowed lands on earth. The very earth itself is fantastically fertile, and if that weren't enough, it is enriched with gold, diamonds and uranium. The scenery is magnificent. The climate superb.

And the people who run it are just about the biggest collection of political backwoodsmen ever to set about ruining one of the most lovely lands you ever saw.

If ever a country was destined for the ultimate holocaust that nation is South Africa.

The Afrikaansers, with their policy of apartheid, which is on a par with Hitler's Aryanism, are one of the most withdrawn communities ever to claim to belong to the civilized world. They are inspired by prejudice and fortified by the Dutch Reformed Church, which is fanatical beyond belief.

At the moment nothing can stop the South African government on its Gadarene course.

But there are new significant financial pointers that may impress people like Dr. Verwoerd, Mr. Swart and Mr. Louw. One of them is that Durban City Council has tried to take out insurance with Lloyd's in London for future riot damage to a risk of over £31,000,000, costing the burghers £25,662 a year. But Lloyd's refuse to accept—"because the situation has deteriorated."

What a lunatic situation. You elect a government to bring the country to flash-point then you want insurance to deal with the inevitable fire that you have made sure will occur.

I AM not one for ships. The smaller ones make me sick. The larger ones make me feel as if I am in the most spacious and luxurious penitentiary in the world. Cunard, in all their majesty, I found depressing in a subtle way, although I don't think anyone can touch "The Queens" for sheer efficiency.

One of the things about them is their in-built snobbery and all the palaver about being invited to the captain's table, the doctor's table and so on. The same sort of routine goes on about being invited to have drinks in the cabins of this marine hierarchy.

Your social status is assessed by some unfortunate and you can tell instantly what Cunard thinks of you.

Roughly the scale is from the captain at the top to the purser at the bottom. The purser usually proves to be the liveliest fellow.

Not that I blame these honest salts in the slightest degree. They probably loathe these ceremonies as much as some of the passengers do.

At the same time as the news of the death of Sir Jacob Epstein, at the age of 78, came the news of the marriage of Sir Thomas Beecham at the age of 80. A triumphant spray of orange blossom to offset the sad cypress.

Both men have twisted the public's tail unmercifully—and the public has been the better for their defiance. Sculpture and music seem to breed some pretty robust characters and both Sir Jacob and Sir Thomas have made their detractors seem stunted in comparison.

Lame Excuses

The provincial government should offer equal facilities, under the payroll deduction plan, to its employees to purchase either or both the PGE bonds or the national bonds, the latter of which the employees have been buying for many years.

The employee should have absolute freedom to decide for himself, and to make his own choice.

No lame excuses that the provincial accounting machinery will not permit the duplication of payroll deductions should be accepted.

The provincial accounting has done far more wonderful things. It has, in effect, converted debts into contingent liabilities, although some of us who are ignorant cannot recognize the difference. But perhaps Grandpa Santa Claus knows best.

Speed and Safety

The argument about speed on the highways does not appear to be relevant to speed limits.

The majority of countries have no speed limits on their highways but a great deal more attention is paid to driving procedures.

Experienced drivers establish a speed best suited to their comfort and controllability of the car they are driving. On open highways the modern car functions best at speeds around 60 mph.

It is surely absurd to limit speed to 50 mph over the miles of empty mainland highways in B.C. and yet ignore the many examples of bad motoring which are the real cause of most accidents eventually, e.g., hugging the crown of the road at 20 m.p.h. and ignoring pedestrian crossings, stop signs, etc.

In Gratitude

I would like to convey to all our friends, neighbors and acquaintances, the heartfelt thanks my husband, children and I feel for the numerous telegrams, letters, cards, flowers, gifts and phone calls we received, both in Bozeman, Mont., and here at home. The sentiments expressed were so beautiful and uplifting; they gave us the will and the way.

Also, we are so grateful for your prayers. We are frank to admit we couldn't have done it alone. One feels very small and insignificant in such an upheaval. It was comforting to know that others were near in thought.

We hope at some time to thank you all personally, but until then, please consider this an individual thank-you, from the bottom of our hearts. God bless you all.

Greed for Speed

According to expressed opinion the legal limit of 60 miles per hour is too fast in certain places. The result, death. And death is so final!

Well, the urge to speed is human. Man clothes himself in this attribute today—second nature, I dare say. I know from experience that people are not happy "just poking along." Places are no longer miles away but minutes—telescoped into so many revolutions per minute under the hood. And a deep desire to get there.

'Tis later than you think perhaps, but not too late for death. Which meant something to Hamlet! Can we say the same today?

Communists Capture Major Laos Fortress

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—Communist rebel forces were reported Wednesday to have captured a major Laotian fortress in northern Sam Neua province.

A senior defence department official also said anti-aircraft guns and mortars used against Laotian royalist forces came from Communist North Viet Nam.

The rebels used anti-aircraft guns to fire on royalist planes and 120-millimetre mortars to attack the fort, he said. "They certainly do not belong to the Pathet Lao. They came from Viet Nam."

PEKING (Reuters)—Red China's foreign minister, Marshal Chen Yi, Wednesday night accused the United States of instigating "civil war" in Laos.

At the same time, he denied that Communist China has ever encroached on other countries and warned other countries against encroaching on it.

Chen made no reference to India by name, but observers interpreted his statement as a reference to recent frontier incidents involving Chinese and Indian troops.

No Prejudice In Toronto Says Negro

TORONTO (CP)—A Negro newspaper woman from British Guiana says she has found no trace of racial prejudice in Toronto.

Mrs. Winifred Gaskin, visiting Toronto for the first time, said the people of Toronto appear happy and have little of the tenseness she has seen on faces in New York during her two visits there.

FIRST QUESTION

"The first question my friends back home will ask me is whether I sensed racial prejudice here," she said. "I didn't find a trace."

Wife of the internationally-known cricketer Bertie Gaskin, Mrs. Gaskin is one of the few Negro women in British Guiana who combine marriage with a career.

Nearly-Dead Airman Accused of Murder

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A charge of murder was laid Wednesday night against Arthur Langford Edward Cranston, 29, in the knife-slaying of pretty Ruth Lauretta Dorothy Buckley, 24, nurse at Westminster Hospital.

Cranston, a native of St. Kitts, British West Indies, joined the RCAF in Victoria. He was stationed at Clinton RCAF station here on a radar course.

CHARGE READ

The charge was read and warrant executed in a third-floor room at the hospital. Cranston was reported near death from a knife wound in the throat.

The nurse appeared at the admitting office of the hospital Tuesday night, her hand clutched to a gaping wound in her throat.

She had run more than 300 yards to the hospital with severe arm, chest and throat wounds. Before she died, Miss Buckley spoke a name.

A few moments later, attendants found a man lying face down, bleeding from a stab wound in the neck. A pocket knife was nearby.

Fired Skipper To Sue Cunard

CAPT. JAMES ARMSTRONG

... Company wrong?

LIVERPOOL (UPI)—Capt. James Armstrong, fired as skipper of the Cunard liner Britannia, said Wednesday he will sue the company for damages and a declaration that it acted wrongly in relieving him of his command.

Capt. Armstrong was fired after a New York-to-Liverpool voyage last June. The company claims to have statements involving the captain with two women passengers, but will not release details. Meanwhile, U.S. theatrical magnate John Shubert has rallied other former Britannia passengers to Armstrong's defence.

Right Hand Badly Cut

Victorian Admits Slashing Tires

His right hand encased in a huge bandage, Robert Rentz, 22, of 1611 Warren Gardens, pleaded guilty in city police court to a charge of wilful damage over the value of $50. He was remanded to Tuesday for probation report and sentence.

Charge arose from the slashing of tires on trucks owned by Gayland Shows Ltd., during the last night of a carnival near the Curling Rink on Quadra Street Saturday.

Rentz cut his hand badly while slashing the tires, Det. Norman Bath told the court. Rentz also said he cut only two tires, but the officer said eight were slashed, and there was no indication that more than the one person was involved.

While actual cost of the damage had not yet been estimated, owners of the tires said they would cost $20 each to repair and each was greatly devalued by the cutting.

Canada Defeats U.S. Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The senate bowing to pressure from Canada and other sources, yesterday pigeonholed the Chicago Water Diversion Bill by referring it to the foreign relations committee.

The action wipes out any possibility that the controversial measure will receive any more consideration at this session and gives the foreign relations group a chance to bottle up the legislation indefinitely.

The bill was strongly opposed by senators from a number of states in the Great Lakes region. Canada also protested the proposal in formal notes to the U.S. government on April 9 and Aug. 20.

At the same time, he denied that Communist China has ever encroached on other countries and warned other countries against encroaching on it.

Chen made no reference to India by name, but observers interpreted his statement as a reference to recent frontier incidents involving Chinese and Indian troops.

Angry Father Peppers Tooting Joker

CHARLTON, Mass. (AP)—Aaron Burlingame got tired of youths blowing auto horns outside his house to attract his daughters.

So Sunday, when he heard one, he rushed out with a shotgun. Seeing nothing, he fired a blast into the air.

Pellets struck Quentin Kuehl, 17, hidden in a tree. Police said he had been playing bird calls on a duck horn as a practical joke.

Kuehl was given hospital treatment and Burlingame pleaded guilty to assault with a dangerous weapon. He was given a suspended six months' jail sentence.

Drugs Push TB Deaths To New Low

OTTAWA (CP)—Streptomycin and other antibiotics have earned the lion's share of credit for reducing Canada's tuberculosis death rate to its lowest point in history.

Last year there were 1,027 TB deaths in Canada, 156 fewer than in 1957, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday. That works out to six deaths for each 100,000 of population.

TEN TIMES

Twenty years ago, the mortality rate was nearly 10 times higher at 56 for each 100,000. Now, Canada has the third-lowest rate in the world, ranking closely behind Denmark and the U.S.

Canada's big decline began in 1947 with the introduction of streptomycin injections and use of other drugs such as isoniazid and PAS—para amino salicylic acid—for TB lung treatment.

ANOTHER ASPECT

In addition, the old lung-collapse treatment has been replaced by surgical removal of diseased lung lobes.

Of all patients discharged from Canadian sanatoria last year, 81.4 per cent had been treated with isoniazid, 71.2 per cent with streptomycin, and about 65 per cent with PAS.

Meanwhile, the national TB control program—finding, isolating and treating tuberculosis—continued to produce results.

First admissions of TB patients last year dropped to 8,349 from 9,331 a year earlier, producing a record low admission rate of 49 patients for each 100,000 of population as against 56.3 in 1957.

Across the country, the admission rate was highest in the Northwest Territories.

Vaudeville Veteran Dies at 80

Another link with pre-radio and TV days of live entertainment has snapped.

Eighty-year-old tenor, Peter Joseph Murphy, a veteran of the vaudeville stage and the old Pantheons circuit, died at St. Paul's Hospital in Vancouver recently.

Mr. Murphy, called both "the silver-toned tenor" and "Doc" Murphy, was born in Montreal but lived in Vancouver for the past 45 years.

He was one of Vancouver's very first radio singers.

Stores Lose $3,500 In Two Days

WINNIPEG (CP)—A bad-check passer equipped with 500 cheques stolen from an investment firm bilked merchants of $3,500 in 48 hours, the Manitoba Retail Merchants' Association said Wednesday.

It was believed a woman had cashed 26 cheques, each made out to a Miss P. A. Westlake for $132.28, dated Aug. 28 and issued by Investors' Mutual of Canada Ltd.

The association said all cheques that could be cashed in Winnipeg likely had been cashed and warned merchants in Saskatchewan and Alberta to be on guard.

Lim's Troubles Are Over

'Face-Saving' Recluse
Going Back to School

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Chheng Guan Lim decided Wednesday he'll go back to school.

Lim, 28, heard from his family in Singapore, who told him they want him to continue his education.

IN DISGRACE

He was found last weekend by two policemen as he crouched under the eaves in a church attic where he had been since 1955—hiding "to save face" in his disgrace because he had shamed his family and friends by flunking courses in engineering at the University of Michigan here.

Lim had stayed in the attic of the First Methodist Church, bedded down among the rafters, speaking to no one and sneaking out at night to grub for leftovers in a foreign students dining hall in a wing of the building.

Then the Wesleyan Foundation, Methodist agency which sponsored him as a foreign student originally, said it would support him again.

ALL BETTER

The university announced he could enter another school, though not engineering. The immigration service said he could stay and police released him.

Lim heard that his father had died last March, as Lim was in his fourth year of hiding. Lim said his father had wanted him to be an engineer and as a dutiful son, Lim had agreed. Now, he said, he would like to study political science and perhaps law, his own desires.

MIGHT RETURN

But Lim said it had been so long since he had heard from his mother and the rest of his family that he might return to Singapore.

The university announced Wednesday that Lim had heard from his family, that his mother was fine and she plans to move to the U.S. soon, and the whole family approves

He will re-enter Michigan as a junior in the college of literature, science and the arts. Doctors say he is in "surprisingly good" health.

Weird 'Thing' Rattles Family

Mysterious Thumpings
Rock House for Weeks

WHITESVILLE, N.J. (UPI)—A thumping "thing" that rattles through the walls of a house from morning till night had a family of four at wits' end yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Salomon and their daughters, Miriam, 17, and Tina, 10, said weird noises have been coming from the walls of their home for the past six weeks.

According to Mrs. Salomon, the noises start at about 8 a.m. and continue sporadically until about 11 p.m.

Whatever it is has defied attempts to stop it.

Exterminators have pumped deadly cyanide fumes through the walls and traps have been set without success.

Mrs. Salomon said the banging was so loud Tuesday that an ash tray was knocked off a table and pictures crashed from the walls. A friend from New York heard the noise during a telephone conversation, the harried housewife said.

At this point, "we don't know what to do," Mrs. Salomon said.

Latest attempts to rid the house of its "thumper" centre around the efforts of Rocco Denice, a U.S. agricultural agent. He's been at the house just about every day this past week with wildlife and pest control experts.

Denice scoffs at ghostly theories and leans to the belief that some type of pest is responsible. Probably a flying squirrel or snake, he said.

Denice said something has been nibbling at eight feeding posts he has set up in the roof and cellar of the house and, if it's the noise-maker, the pest is not long for this world.

The food consists of poisoned pellets and water designed to exterminate the partaker within five days.

Helicopters Fighters
Next Time

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Helicopters will stage dog-fights in future wars just like fighter planes did in past conflicts, says Brig. Gen. Ernest Easterbrook, commander of the army aviation centre at Fort Rucker, Ala. He said helicopters will be used increasingly because of their ability to fly low enough to escape radar detection.

Schools Boycotted

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—The Travers Home and School Association has voted not to send their children to school in protest of a change in school districts which would mean students living near Travers would have 12 miles to travel, an increase of more than eight miles.

Pulsing 'Brain' Finds Trouble In Big, New Thermal Plant

CHEMAINUS — When the big new B.C. Power Commission thermal plant was officially opened here yesterday all but a few people noticed what employees considered the "pulse" of the plant's delicate instrument in the control room.

It is called a data-logger. No one could say for sure how much it cost, but Victoria engineer Russell Potter called it an "amazing time-saver."

It records anything "wrong" almost before the generators and other equipment could notice it.

It is a "glorified" brain for measuring temperatures automatically and for transferring the readings to a chart. The numbers are printed in red if something is wrong.

New Power Plant May Stand Idle

CHEMAINUS — The $15,400,000 B.C. Power Commission thermal plant here may never be used for "years" said chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside yesterday at the official opening ceremonies.

Energy Board Starts Work Next Month

CHEMAINUS — Premier Bennett said yesterday he will call a meeting of the new B.C. government energy board in about a month to establish detailed terms of reference.

Creation of the board, an advisory body to guide government power and energy planning, was announced last month.

The premier said the energy board, headed by Dr. Gordon Shrum, will meet primarily to consider the field of power production and to isolate major problems.

He said he was pleased to hear that Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton praised the Wenner-Gren development in northern B.C. in an interview in Vancouver.

"Now that we are all unanimous, I hope the harping critics will keep quiet for a while."

Bennett Switches Second Plant On

PORT ALBERT — Premier Bennett officially opened the 35,000-horsepower B.C. Power Commission hydro plant at Ash River, north of here, yesterday afternoon.

The generator, which is connected to the Vancouver Island system and will supply about one-third of the Alberni Valley's demands, was turned on by remote control by an operator in Nanaimo in response to the premier's phoned directions.

The premier, who earlier in the day had opened the big BCPC thermal power plant at Bear Point near Chemainus, described the two plants as "all efficiency with no gingerbread."

NANAIMO — An infection which produces a type of stomach flu is rampant in Nanaimo. Central Vancouver Island Health Unit reports the victim is "laid low" for only about a day and there are apparently no serious after-effects.

Money Released For Bottleneck

PORT ALBERT — Premier Bennett announced today that he has signed the voucher which will release money to relocate Stamp Avenue, here. He made the announcement at the Ash River power station. Mayor Loran Jordan, Port Alberni, and Mayor Jack Luckhurst, Alberni, had pressed for years for the road which would overcome the traffic bottleneck between the two cities.

Valiantly, Salmon Dodge Death

By Charles Thompson

DUNCAN—Faintly they can see the shadows of ripples on the water. Then the men close in from each bank with their spears poised as the fish come up river in the Cowichan's slack tide.

One spear is tossed, a little ahead of the moving salmon and you can hear the "chunk" noise as the thin metal point bites into the sand and gravel of the stream bottom.

Then the fish is like an airplane, dodging flak-like spears that burst into the water all around it. In its fight for survival, the valiant spawning salmon careens around the narrowing circle of Indian spearmen.

One moment the fish is plainly discernable as it seems to pause. But it is not really where it seems to be because of the crazy-mirror image given off the flowing stream. This makes spear fishing a sport, Indians feel.

In an hour just before sun-up yesterday more than 20 spear fishermen tried to kill

Indian Spearmen Fish For Food, Not for Fun

at least a dozen large salmon in the shallow water of the river in the flats at Cowichan Bay.

One was wounded and then killed about 15 minutes later. The others got away.

It's a sport, but the men were serious in their hunting. Their belts had been pulled in many notches and their families are hungry. They were after food, not fun. Some wore waist-high waders.

Most wore old shoes and pants and didn't seem to mind the cold. They would even dive in to try to scoop the fish on to the bank if their spear missed.

The fish head for deep water. Instinctively knowing that in the depths they can hide. The water displaced by their bodies cannot show on the surface, but the Indians wait.

A dugout canoe is used to probe the deep pools, to scare fish out to where the fishermen wait patiently.

Some of their fellow fishermen believe it is not fair to gang up, and stalk alone on the banks, allowing the fish the chance to get away if the first spear shot is missed.

But both types will be out this morning, and tomorrow morning, and every week day until the fish have all spawned and the bodies of the dead cover the banks in nauseating lines of rot.

The spear fishermen rest their arms on Saturdays and Sundays. Indians can only spear fish during week days.

Boy Gored

Bull Fails to Spoil Scholar's Record

NORTH COWICHAN—A 16-year-old boy here who hasn't missed a day of school in eight years won't miss the start of school, although it took 30 stitches to close a rip in his arm where he was gored by a bull.

Dennis Garlick will enter Grade 11 Tuesday with a sling to support his right arm that was slashed from his wrist to the elbow.

Dr. James Goodbrand said neither the ligaments nor tendons were injured.

The youth was gored by eight-year-old bull, Romulus, owned by Chapman Bros. ranch on Lakes Road, about three miles northeast of Duncan.

Dennis had placed a bucket of feed in the bull's corral when it charged him Tuesday.

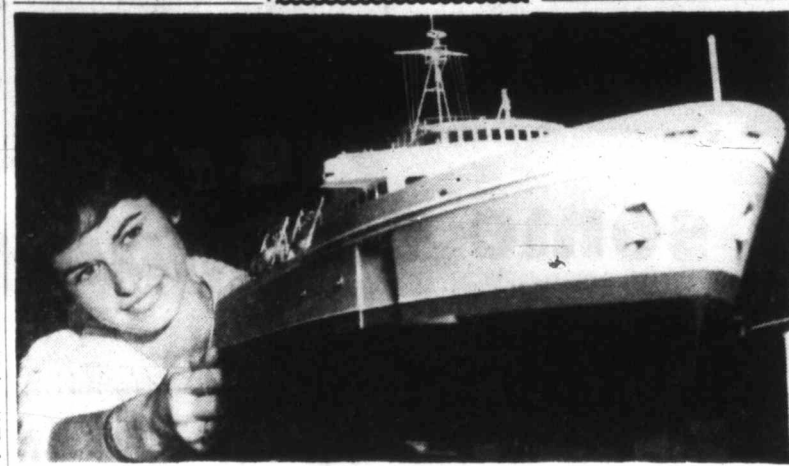

Symphony Series For Sidney?

Victoria Symphony Society directors are considering a series of four or five concerts to be held in Sidney during the coming season.

A concert will be held in Sidney Sept. 11 as part of the society's "Symphony Week." Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

Second concert in the "Symphony Week" will be held on the steps of the provincial legislative buildings, 500 Belleville Street. Admission to this concert will be free.

The society plans a membership drive as part of its "Symphony Week."

Threw Assailant to Ground

With 'Hard Object' in Back Constable Went into Action

A man who tried to break up a police interrogation by poking a "hard object" into a Victoria constable's back early yesterday, found he'd picked the wrong man.

The officer, Const. Norman Hansen, wheeled, grabbed the man behind, and threw him to the ground. The man jumped to his feet and, with the man being questioned, took to his heels, with the constable firing two warning shots over their heads.

This happened about 5.20 a.m. on Pembroke near Government, where Const. Hansen was questioning a man in a truck. Within minutes the officer had overtaken and captured the first man, in the 500 block of Pembroke.

A few minutes later Const. Murray MacArthur, who had come with others to Hansen's assistance, saw a man disappear into Fan Tan Alley from Figgard. Const. MacArthur drove around the block in time to see the other run from the alley to a parking lot on Cormorant where he was arrested.

Meanwhile, in the back of the panel truck police found a television set belonging to Charles MacMillan, 628 Pembroke. The truck itself was the property of Charles Round of the boat Fancy, at Fishermen's Wharf.

In city police court yesterday, Grant Perry Hallberg, 1710 Queens, and Harry Eric Liddle, 1112 North Park, pleaded guilty to a joint charge of breaking, entering and theft at the MacMillan home on Pembroke.

To a joint charge of taking a car without the owner's consent, Liddle pleaded guilty and Hallberg pleaded not guilty. Liddle also pleaded not guilty to a third charge of obstructing a peace officer.

The two men were remanded to Sept. 10 for trials, probation reports and sentence on all charges.

Also in city court yesterday Rex Howard, 1715 Stanley, was committed for trial following preliminary hearing on morals charge involving young girls.

Pilgrims Mix At Lourdes

LOURDES, France (Reuters)—About 4,000 gypsies from all over Europe mingled with nearly 6,000 ex-servicemen in the streets of Lourdes as separate pilgrimages to this Catholic shrine coincided. The veterans were on an international peace pilgrimage while the gypsies were attending an annual gathering.

Port Alberni Women

Abortion-Murder Charges Set for Nanaimo Assizes

NANAIMO—The murder trial of two Port Alberni women, Mrs. Rossi Trapp and Mrs. Rachel Silvester, is among those cases slated for the fall assizes here.

Mr. Justice Sullivan and Mr. Justice Collins will conduct the assizes which begin Tuesday.

The two women are charged with murder in the death of Mrs. Joan Venne who died after an alleged abortion.

They will be defended by Ronald F. MacIsaac, Nanaimo. Also slated to appear are:

George Matthew Callow, Campbell River, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of his infant daughter, Georgina Callow last March. Gilbert Paul Elsie, Chemainus, is charged with car theft.

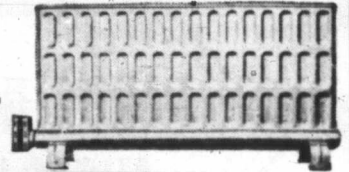

The assize is expected to last about two weeks.

Man Fleeced of Savings

TORONTO (CP)—An Italian immigrant was fleeced of his savings of $3,500 Tuesday by a woman and man he thought were rewarding him. Antonio Colvo, 33, told police an attractive woman approached him on a downtown street and told him in Italian that she was looking for a man whom her father gypped out of $5,000 years ago. Mr. Colvo said the woman then offered him a $2,000 reward if he could prove he had saved some money. Taking the woman and her male companion to his bank, Mr. Colvo withdrew $3,500 he had saved since coming from Italy eight years ago. The woman wrapped that money and $2,000 in a white handkerchief which she gave him and then left. Later Mr. Colvo found the handkerchief held a wad of paper strips cut to the size of bills and wrapped in three $1 bills.

Astronomers Lower Sights

TORONTO (CP)—The age of man-made satellites is bringing astronomers back from distant stargazing to a study of the doorstep of outer space, says United States astronomer Dr. Gerard P. Kuiper.

Dr. Kuiper, of Yerkes Observatory, Wis., said astronomers are studying the earth's neighboring planets with new interests.

Among the more recent findings of Dr. Kuiper and his scientific colleagues is data leading to the belief that the craters on the moon are both meteoric and volcanic and about the same size and type as those on Hawaii.

Traffic Problem for Runners

Heavy traffic on Chicago's Lake Shore Drive was one of hazards facing runners yesterday in 26-mile Pan American Games marathon. Skyscrapers and cars form backdrop for Macario Subuyuy (133) of Guatemala and Juan Silva (86) of Chile. Race was won by John Kelly of U.S.

Wheaton, Mates Set Another Swim Record

CHICAGO—Records continued to be shattered with alarming regularity Wednesday as another disappointing crowd of 10,000 watched the day's main Pan-American Games events, swimming and track and field.

Bob Wheaton of Victoria again had a hand in some of the record setting, being a member of the men's 400-metre medley relay team that smashed a 1955 record set by the United States.

Wheaton, Stephen Rabinovitch of Montreal, Peter Fowler of Woodstock, Ont., and Richard Pound of Montreal were timed at 4:25.4 in lead time the five first heat teams.

Wheaton swam backstroke, Rabinovitch breaststroke, Fowler butterfly and Pound freestyle U.S. had set the old record of 4:29.1 at Mexico City.

Today's final will see the U.S., Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Peru and Ecuador as well as Canada, competing for a gold medal.

FOURTH AND FIFTH
Vancouver swimmers Cathy Campbell and Susan Sangster placed fourth and fifth respectively in a heat for the 400-metre freestyle relay. A Pan-American Games record was topped in this event, too, by Christina von Salza of the U.S.

Nancy Ramey of the U.S. snapped her own world record in a 100-metre relay. Vancouver's Margaret Iwasaki qualified by bettering the Pan-American mark in another heat, despite finishing second to Becky Collins of the U.S.

While track and field events produced some outstanding performances, Canada's shooting team moved into a position to make it two medals in rifle and pistol competition.

GOLD MEDAL?
Canada won a second-place silver medal in the pistol shooting and it appears that the rifle team will probably win a gold medal in the prone position event.

RCMP corporal Jim Zavitz of Nanaimo, who coaches the Canadian team as well as competing, said "It looks like a gold medal for the prone, we haven't heard yet but are pretty sure of it."

Garfield McMahon of Dartmouth, N.S. was announced the winner of a silver medal for individual pistol competition, scoring 538x600.

Olympic gold medalist Gerry Ouellette of Deep River, Ont., appears to have won the gold medal in the prone rifle event and teammate Clark White, Toronto, placed second.

Zavitz, who finished 12th in the pistol event, confirmed that Canadian marksmen have received bronze medals for earlier team performances in free pistol and English small-bore events.

Meanwhile, the U.S. won five more track and field events, four of them with new records, and wound up that phase of competition with 26 of the 32 gold medals.

Canada fared poorly Wednesday, placing third in the marathon event and seventh in equestrian competition.

Regardless of yesterday's poor showing, Canada—turning in its best international competition performance in years—ended up with two silver medals and six bronze.

Gord Dickson of Hamilton placed third in the marathon won by John Kelly, U.S. high school teacher from Groton, Conn. Doug Kyle of Calgary dropped out after 16 miles with a pair of badly-blistered feet.

Canada's women's team placed third in the 400-metre final when Sally McCallum of Vernon had a piece of dirt lodge in her eye while running second. A bad habit passed by the injured Miss McCallum cost Canada a second finish.

Both men's and women's teams from Canada lost in basketball. The men's team dropped a 83-66 decision to Puerto Rico while the women lost 37-35 to Mexico. Bob Pickell of Vancouver had 21 points to top the men.

What Canada Did
Shooting—Garfield McMahon, Dartmouth, N.S., second in centre pistol, silver medal.

Marathon—Gord Dickson, Hamilton, third, bronze medal.

Women's 200-metre relay—Canada third in final; bronze medal.

Men's 400-metre relay—Canada sixth in final.

Women's 400-metre relay—Canada sixth in final.

Boxing—Lindy Lindmeyer, Vancouver, defeated in 175-pound class.

Men's volleyball—Canada defeated Cuba in consolation round.

Men's basketball—Canada defeated by Puerto Rico in round robin.

Diving—Ernest Messner, Kitchener, Ont., ninth in men's three-metre springboard final.

Men's 200-metre breaststroke—Stephen Rabinovitch, Montreal, 10th in final.

Men's 100-metre freestyle—Cameron Gault, Montreal, fourth in final.

Women's 400-metre freestyle—Cathy Fowler, Vancouver, fifth in final.

Sox Explode for Eleven Runs In Double Win Over Detroiters

Gord Haworth Back Again

Gordie Haworth will play a fourth season for the Victoria Cougars, manager-coach Hal Laycoe reported last night.

The slender centre, who will reach his 28th birthday late in February, is the second player assigned to the Cougars by the Boston Bruins for the coming Western Hockey League season.

Haworth has improved his point output each season since coming to the WHL. He played 64 games in the 1956/57 season, wound up with 17 goals and 35 assists for 52 points.

He followed this with 23 goals and 37 assists for 60 points in 67 games the following season and last season finished 11th in league scoring with 21 goals and 52 assists for 73 points from 65 games.

Laycoe also announced that Doug Macauley will report to training camp on Sept. 13, ending rumors that the veteran rightwinger might be staying in Edmonton this winter.

'IRON MAN'
Although slight at 155 pounds, Macauley has been one of the real "iron men" in the WHL. In fact, it could be that he does hold the record for consecutive games played.

He played in every league game for six straight seasons up until last season, when he missed once near the end of the season. He started last season with an unbroken string of 421 games.

During his seven WHL seasons, Macauley has been a consistent point-getter and only once did he drop below 20 goals. That was the 1953-54 season, when he started with Seattle and was sold to Victoria. He got only eight goals and 23 assists in 71 games and it appeared as if he was on his way out of professional hockey.

But Macauley never slipped again. In his five full seasons with the Cougars he has scored 128 goals, an average of more than 25. Even last season when he didn't appear as effective as usual, he wound up with 22 scoring shots, most of them scored in a late league game, Macauley scored 159 goals and made 186 assists for 345 points, an average of about 50 a season.

Ed McCabe, writing in the Ottawa Journal, said "without the fans can look forward to is Christmas."

Main target of the criticism is coach Frank Clair, who admits he's as concerned as his most severe critic, but said he didn't plan to get "hysterical" over the situation and "wreck everything."

One of several barbs aimed at Clair is his failure to bring in a large number of American imports to fight for the 12 available positions. That situation reached a peak Monday when Clair was forced to recall halfback Dick Hunter, cut previously, in order to have 12 healthy imports to name after the team's third game.

The Riders have not had more than 13 Americans in camp since the season began. Ottawa has lost all three of its Big Four starts. They haven't won a Big Four title since 1951.

Clair has named native-born Russ Jackson to start as quarterback when the Riders play Montreal Saturday, hoping that Jackson might give the team a "mental lift." He'd better, the natives obviously are restless.

Chicago White Sox swept a two-night doubleheader from Detroit 7-2 and 11-4 to increase their first-place lead in the American League to 5½ games over Cleveland Wednesday.

The Indians won their game, defeating Kansas City 6-3. San Francisco and Los Angeles remained 1½ games apart in the National League race but the Giants picked up ground on the other hopefuls—third-place Milwaukee, beaten 11-5 by Philadelphia, and fourth-place Pittsburgh, which lost a doubleheader to Cincinnati 6-3 and 2-1.

The Giants topped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 off Jackie Brandt's ninth-inning homer but the second-place Dodgers kept pace, wiping out a four-run deficit to whip St. Louis 9-6.

The usually light-hitting White Sox teed off on Paul Foytack, Tom Morgan and Summer Bonspiel Opens Up Today

Thirty-two of the 54 rinks entered will see action tonight as the annual summer bonspiel at the Victoria Curling Club gets off to an early start. Local and Duncan rinks drawn against each other will get the jump on other rinks to help bring the bonspiel to its scheduled Monday night finish.

Play will be in six events—two primary, two secondary and a consolation for all rinks entered and a special open event for rinks which include at least two lady curlers.

The bonspiel is open to all rinks, mixed or otherwise. At least 15 rinks will include a minimum of two distaff curlers while others are expected to have one lady. Mixed rinks will be assured of at least six games while other rinks will have the usual five.

Draws for tonight and the first Friday draws:

TONIGHT
1 p.m.—Mel Smith vs. Keith Harper (Duncan) vs. Coulter; J. Gallagher vs. Tang; Prokopow vs. Hayhurst; Anderson vs. Bergman; Zaitel vs. Whitaker; McLean vs. Lawson; Stupis vs. Rycroft; J.B. Al Smith vs. Paul Sellar; Richardson; Bismont vs. McIntosh; Lovie vs. Bellagente; W. Gaultier vs. Hoffman; Russell vs. Davy; Beach vs. Jack; Gordon vs. Wadsworth.

FRIDAY
8 a.m.—Bird vs. Young; Lavasseur vs. Al Smith; Gardner vs. Taylor; Bergman vs. Mel Smith; Tang vs. Smeaton; Rossell vs. Tate.
10:15 a.m.—Prokopow vs. Anderson; J. Gallagher vs. McIntosh; W. Gaultier vs. Zaitel; Lovie vs. Lawson; Whitaker vs. Gordon.

Winnipeg Linemen Soon Start to Maul

By TED REEVE

FOLK MUSIC
To see all the football, we went to the West. And still think the Tighs will come out the best. But the Lions and Cowboys are stronger this fall. And what would we do with no football at all? (No football at all... no football at all, etc.)

The Winnipeg Blue Bombers were playing like Yanks. Had wintered per chance, walking round to the banks. But soon those large linemen will start in to maul. So out on the praries they still get our call. But what would they do with no football at all?

Prince Hal and J. Parker have both got their lumps. Which leaves us, sincerely, a bit in the dumps. But Miles, Kapp and Bewley keep running the ball. And what would we do with no football at all?

There's only Faloneys in old Tiger Town. They'll get a TD by trying third down... These short-handed Eskimos still play it nice. They'll be in there fighting—those playoffs on ice.

O.C. Cricket

LONDON (Reuters)—Wednesday's close-play cricket scores: MCC 238 for 9 declared; Yorkshire 132 for no wicket; Surrey 208; Northamptonshire 29 for 4; Glamorgan 364 for 8 vs. Middlesex; Sussex 174; Warwickshire 15 for no wicket; Nottinghamshire 127; Kent 149 for 1; Lancashire 230; Somerset 68 for 3.

SOCCER PRACTICE

Heaney's of the Victoria and District Football Association will practice at Lansdowne Park Thursday night at 7.

With Calgary's Cowboys still 'shooting' and tall, And Vancouver's Leos just missing the brawl...

Well a guitar man could keep that up for hours, but there does not seem to be too much future in it... so to work... We have had the good fortune to see each of the big nine in action already... the bad luck to be on hand when first Jackie Parker and then Hal Patterson were wheeled away to the pain house. Just as the Eskimos of Eagle Keys... happy and running again... looked like the Alouettes in the East... the team with the oldest established travelling backfield's about ready to make a grand run at the powerful Bombers and Hamilton.

Somebody asked us to pick the winners of the week's games in this Thursday series. Man, that is not in the contract for any football filbert. But on our way to the guillotine for shaving some points we are willing to remark that we think, at this particular time:

1. The Hamilton Tigers should win the Grey Cup.
2. The Bombers should bounce back to grind out top place in the WIFU.

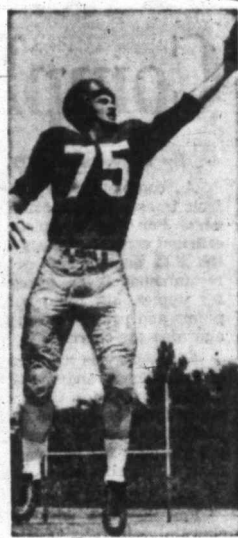

FIERCE FIGHT

The big, fast-running Calgary club and the steadily-improving Lions will have that fierce fight for playoff places, with Edmonton. The Eskis with Art Walker and Miles and Bright seemingly set for tremendous seasons getting in there on their experience and plays that fit any weather.

The Calgaries to maybe just outlast the Leos for the other spot. While we mourn for an autumn for the great football town of Regina needing a city-wide shake-up you might say to bring back the tremendous fan and front office effort that kept them in there manfully but overmatched for so many years.

In the East the Argonauts might bounce back but it looks now like it did a month ago... Tigers... Montreal and Ottawa. Because Wells, Bewley, Etcheverry, Shipp, Hugo, McNichol and that nucleus should win enough key games to make the semi-finals. Argos might beat out Ottawa if they start playing more of a running game. To now they have been passing too much with a running team. Frank Clair hasn't got enough big fellows yet for Grey Cupping but Joyce, Bruce, Jackson and his other Canadians could keep Ottawa in a playoff bonus if he will trust them to try it. Stock Cars and Sprint Cars Race in Holiday Programs

Two of the longest races of the year will feature a Labor Day weekend "double" at Western Speedway.

A marathon, 100-lap race for Indianapolis-style sprint cars will be run off Saturday night while stock cars take part in their annual Gold Cup classic Monday evening.

Leading drivers from Oregon, Washington and British Columbia will be shooting for the B.C. championship as well as $500 in "lap money" in addition to a guaranteed purse put up by the B.C. Automotive Sports Association.

The longest annually-held race on the Island, the B.C. championship will mark the last appearance of sprint cars at the Langford oval this season. Should bad weather postpone Saturday's big race, the 100-lap race will be held Sunday with time trials starting at 2 p.m.

The lap money, almost certain to assure the largest entry of the year, will be distributed to the leader after each lap, with the driver receiving $5.

Heading the list of U.S. invaders are Speedway favorites Del Fanning, Paul Pold and Bob Burgess of Seattle and Portland's Wild Bill Hyde and Ernie Koch.

Topping the B.C. hopes will be a pair of Victoria entries, Bob Simpson and Dick Varley. Varley, a stock car regular who will be aiming for an unprecedented double by taking part in both weekend races, will be driving a Grant King-owned GMC.

Simpson, BCASA president, will steer another fuel-injected GMC Bill Heller, Bob Mawle, Ray Pottinger, Bob Clarke and Al Coultas are other Island sprint hopefuls.

Varley will undoubtedly be a leading favorite to walk off with Monday's Gold Cup honors. But he'll have to beat out two other Victoria drivers

Virtue Cup Match Set For Monday

Highlight of the closing local cricket season will come Labor Day, Sept. 7, at Beacon Hill Park when an all-star team from the Victoria and District Association hosts a select Vancouver team in the final Virtue Cup match.

First game of the competition was held July 1 at Vancouver where the teams battled to a draw. Monday's match begins at 10:45 a.m. and will continue all day.

All five city teams will be represented at Monday's match. Oak Bay Albions, Five C's top the list with three players each. Oak Bay players are P. Gadban, J. Sparks and G. Odgers while members of Five C's are J. Breckon, T. Richards and G. Ferreira. K. Bickmore, D. Hughes and T. Mainwaring, captain, will be Albions' reps while K. Ackroyd and J. Moss from Cowichan and Alcos respectively, round out the team.

Hodges Pages' Hero Pitching and Hitting

Berlyn Hodges continued to make most of the news in the Senior Amateur Baseball League final, pitching five scoreless relief innings and driving in the winning run as Pages scored a 12-inning 7-6 win over Eagles last night at Royal Athletic Park.

The former professional drove a one-bounce single into left field with one out in the 12th to score pinch-hitter Des Moseley with the run that gave Pages a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series.

Moseley, as lead-off man, had reached base on an error and was sacrificed to second by Ron Martin.

Hodges moved from first base to the mound in the seventh inning after Eagles had collected all six runs in their previous turn at bat against starter Paul Beck.

He struck out seven in the remaining five innings to gain his second win of the series. Hodges has appeared in all three games to date, pitching in relief Tuesday when Eagles evened the series with a last-inning rally.

Veteran Art Worth took over from Eagles' starter Steve Bishop in the 12th inning last night and yielded the winning run. Bishop gave up eight hits and struck out 12.

Wins Fishoff At Cowichan

COWICHAN BAY — Two Duncan fishermen took the top prizes Sunday in the annual Cowichan Bay Salmon Club's derby fishoff.

Jack Young won first prize of $100 with a 31-pound, four-ounce spring. Gil Manning won $50 with his 22-pound, four-ounce spring. All but three of the 50 anglers eligible for the fish-off competed and 12 springs, all over 15 pounds, were weighed in.

Pages had jumped to a 6-0 lead after six innings when Eagles finally broke through. Worth drove in two of the runs with a long double while three singles, three walks and two errors did the rest of the damage.

Hodges took over from there and outduelled both Bishop and Worth to put Pages in a position where they could wrap up the playoff title with a win tonight.

Game time at Royal Athletic Park is 7:00.

Japanese Puck Team Plays Here Jan. 4

Included in a touring Japanese hockey team's nine-game schedule against B.C. teams will be an appearance at Memorial Arena, Jan. 4, where the visitors will play a team from the city commercial league.

Dates for the exhibition games were determined at a meeting of the Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League held recently at Nanaimo.

The Japanese will play teams from the Okanagan, Western International and Pacific Coast leagues. A game is scheduled for Nanaimo on Jan. 7.

Garden Notes

Complicated—but Worth It

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

A complete spray program for fruit trees can be a complicated business. For the complete and most efficient control of pests and diseases, the B.C. department of agriculture recommends seven sprays per year for apples, six for pears, eight for plums and prunes, seven for peaches, and nine for cherries.

Each spray is a different mixture of ingredients, and the timing of the application is most important, for the spray must be applied just when the particular pest or fungus spore you are gunning for happens to be in its most vulnerable stage of growth.

For the man with a sizeable orchard of fruit trees, I think it pays to give his trees the full treatment. The excellent spray calendar put out by the department should be thumb-tacked to the toolshed wall and followed exactly. The homeowner with one or two backyard trees, though, can get away with a considerably less complicated program.

For one thing, the size of the crop from a few trees in a home garden doesn't justify the expense of so many different sprays, nor does the average homeowner have enough free time from his regular job to apply all these sprays at exactly the correct times.

For another thing, the isolated backyard tree isn't nearly so susceptible to pest attack as when a great number of similar trees are grown in close proximity. An infestation in an orchard is a much more serious matter, as the pest or blight can build up like wildfire with such an easy jump from tree to tree.

In a simplified program for the home gardener, the one basic spray is the winter wash of dormant spray oil, two pints in five gallons of water. This one spray offers reasonably good control over a very wide range of pests, including aphids, which are always present in every garden.

One big advantage of the dormant oil spray is that the timing isn't the least bit critical. It can go on any time in December or January, and if the year-end stock-taking at the office comes along on the weekend you had earmarked for the spraying of your trees, no harm is done. Just get the job done during any spell of fine, sunny weather before the end of January.

With this one basic spraying accomplished, I don't think it pays to worry about the pests which might attack your trees. The dormant oil won't take care of them all, it is true, for bugs and blight spores will come drifting in from other gardens.

Just keep your eyes open, making frequent inspections of your trees and paying particular attention to the backs of the leaves, and give them a squirt of some all-purpose orchard spray or dust when anything abnormal turns up.

Every manufacturer of garden chemicals puts out his own brand of all-purpose spray or dust. This is what you might call a "buckshot" treatment, containing a number of ingredients designed to control nearly every common bug or blight. You don't even need to know what particular pest is making your trees look sick.

Peach trees, of course, must have their special winter spray to control the leaf-curl disease. This is a positive must, and I'll be reminding you about it at the proper time.

Television in Review

Harold's Saucy Surprise

Ike-Macmillan Chat Handsome, Artistic

NEW YORK (UPI)—If the British feel like giving President Eisenhower a useful going-away present, I suggest they wrap up and deliver him the technicians who handled the telecast of his informal TV chat with Prime Minister Macmillan.

The taped program, as seen Tuesday on CBS, was a handsome, luminous and imaginative show. As the smoothly-handled cameras picked out revealing closeups, a sense of great artistry was added to the occasion.

Pictorially, this "Talk Show" was a great improvement over the Nixon-Khrushchev teleclash in Moscow, although it lacked the curiosity value and oomph of the Moscow dialogue. Both Eisenhower and Macmillan benefited from the flattering lighting in the drawing room at No. 10 Downing Street.

In fact, I cannot recall a time when the president looked as comfortable on TV as he did this time.

Those seeking evidence of British reserve could be stymied by this telecast. While Macmillan referred to his American guest as "Mr. President" (Eisenhower called him "Harold"), the British leader's bow-tie-under-the-collar sartorial touch came as a saucy surprise.

Having wiped out just about all the eligible gun-slingers in Dodge City during four TV years, Wyatt Earp began heading for new territory Tuesday. The ABC half-hour (half rerun, half new) was a sort of western-style This Is Your Life as Wyatt, played by Hugh O'Brian, was honored at a farewell barbecue.

Through flashbacks, Wyatt recalled some of his favorite moments while in Dodge. No tears. Real happy

West had no idea whether or not he could make five diamonds when he bid it, but he knew he was making it difficult for North-South to get to their proper contract. If he is doubled and goes down, the penalty should be less expensive than the opponents' probable game or slam.

North made the correct decision when he bid five spades.

A double of five diamonds brings only 200 points as against the vulnerable game worth 650.

But due to South's lack of imagination in the play, the contract was unnecessarily defeated. When West led the diamond king, South hastily grabbed the ace from dummy—but East trumped it! Declarer, couldn't avoid losing two heart tricks and, went down one.

"We certainly were unlucky on this hand," South moaned. "Imagine the diamonds dividing nine-zero." He received no sympathy from North, however, who pointed out: "You should have ducked the opening diamond lead and, if West leads a second diamond, duck again and ruff it in your hand. Later, after trumps are drawn, you'd still have the diamond ace on which to discard one of your losing hearts."

Sir Galahad In Distress

OXFORD, England (Reuters)—Playing Sir Galahad on a motor scooter cost a local man £9 in fines.

Ian Welch, 25, going through town on his scooter, saw two men talking to a girl who didn't want anything to do with them.

He dismounted and ran to her aid, socking one of the men in the stomach as the young lady fled.

But it turned out the two were plain-clothes policemen trying to arrest the lass on street-walking charges under Britain's new anti-vice act.

P.S.—The policemen later caught up with the lady and it cost her a £5 fine.

memories as Wyatt shot a dozen-or-so men and slugged a few others into unconsciousness. Anyhow, some sentimental sobs tried to shoot up the barbecue and Wyatt shish-kebabbed them with a few final bullets.

In next Tuesday's episode, Wyatt will be en route to Tombstone, Ariz., and a new career. Well, in case his fans are worried, it really won't be too new.

Movie Star Finds Broadway Pays

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Does it pay for a movie star to do a Broadway show? In the case of Dana Andrews, the answer is yes. He has just returned from a year's run in Two for the Seesaw, taking over the role Henry Fonda created in the two-character play.

BETTER OFF

"Financially, I did better than I have in films, although I made less money," he said. "I've been earning $300,000 a year in films for the past five years. During the last year, I made $200,000. I was getting 10 per cent of the play's gross, which was usually $3,000 a week. The rest of my income was from payments on pictures that had been spread out over a few years.

SAVED MONEY

"But because all my living expenses in the east were deductible, I was able to save a third more money than I would have. Also, I did nothing but work, so I wasn't spending money."

"As far as my own work is concerned, I think it did a great deal of good. I was working on the character all the time, and I was always getting better. My wife Mary could see the change; she would see the play every three months and said it improved tremendously."

BETTER OFFERS

"The fact that I did eight shows a week for a year and could draw capacity audiences for that time seems to have impressed the producers. At least I'm getting some better offers now."

At the Movies

Corny, But Entertaining

Old Theme Succeeds Once More

Director John Ford's vast affection for trains, mounted warriors, open spaces, hearty baritone choruses, zesty brawlers, and the imposing sight of a long line of cavalry silhouetted against the sky—all of these well-known enthusiasms can be credited with having delivered the goods once more.

"The Horse Soldiers" (at the Odeon), a two-hour epic loosely based on a true adventure story of the Civil War, is Ford's latest contender for a share of the box-office dollar. Frankly corny in spots and never straying far from the tested formulas for such a movie, it's nonetheless a flamboyant and entertaining show.

HERO'S ROLE

Big John Wayne appears in the history-book role of a Union Army colonel who was assigned in the spring of 1863 to take a hand-picked company of cavalry and boldly penetrate 300 miles into the heart of the fighting South, there to shorten the war by cutting a rail lifeline vitally needed by the Confederacy.

On the way south they find that their secret plans have been overheard by an eavesdropping plantation belle (Connie Towers). Rather than shoot her as a spy, they force her to ride along with them, accompanied only by her faithful Negro servant (played by tennis-queen Althea Gibson).

For the sake of personal conflict aside from the blood-spillings of war, scriptwriters John Lee Mahin and Martin Rackin have somewhat artificially whopped up a lot of

His Face Color Of Lights

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dignity disappeared quickly in municipal court when a defence lawyer asked a question.

Judge Cecil Edwards, court officials, witnesses and spectators roared.

Everyone laughed except the lawyer and his client when counsel asked the defendant:

"What color was the red light when you went through it?"

Equator Really Exists

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP) — The equator is not just an imaginary, man-made line drawn around our earth.

It actually exists as a ridge or line on the Pacific Ocean bottom. It is made out of fossils and skeletons of things that once lived in the sea, then sank when they died.

This material makes a narrow, detectable line right where man drew the equator for convenience to divide his globe into Northern and Southern Hemispheres.

With it, he could also draw lines of latitude from the equator to the poles to help tell him where he lives or where he is sailing.

Now the equator line on the

sea bottom is being put to use to tell whether the North Pole has gone wandering around in the past. It also promises clues to causes and kinds of ice ages.

The story was described to the First International Oceanographic Congress by Prof. Gustaf Arrhenius of the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, La Jolla, Calif. Here is how the ridge is formed:

The rotation of the earth pulls apart the warm surface layers of wide Pacific Ocean water at the equator.

Some of it flows north, some south. From down below, deep cold water rises up to fill the void, and this cold water is rich in tiny animal life and minerals.

Ultimately this material sinks down along the equator.

Take samples, studying the fossils layer by layer, and you can tell how long ago these marine organisms lived, Arrhenius said. Or you could tell whether the geographic equator always has been where it is now.

If it has moved, then the North and South Poles had to be somewhere else also at that same time.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

"Truth is stranger than fiction," said Mark Twain, "because fiction is obliged to stick to possibilities; truth isn't."

Take the case of Will Purvis.

Will Purvis was born in 1874 in Columbia, Mississippi. When he was 19, he joined the Whitecaps, an organization like the Ku Klux Klan.

Early in 1898 the Whitecaps flogged the Negro servant of a certain Will Buckley. Buckley was furious and denounced the Whitecaps to the grand jury, which indicted them. The Whitecaps swore revenge on Buckley.

Four of them met secretly in the woods. A vote was taken. It was 3 to 1. Three voted for Buckley's death, the fourth voted against it and said he was quitting the Whitecaps then and there. That fourth man was Will Purvis.

A few days later two of the Whitecaps, Louis Thornhill and Joe Beard, ambushed Buckley in the woods and killed him. The scene of the murder was near the Purvis farm.

Hounds Pick Up Scent

Purvis was put on trial for the murder of Will Buckley. He was known as a Whitecap. Bloodhounds, two days after the crime, had picked up a scent from the place of the murder to the Purvis home.

And the only state witness, Will Buckley's brother Jim, pointed at Purvis in the courtroom and said, "Will Purvis, there, killed the man." Purvis had a perfectly good alibi. At the time of the murder he had talked with a certain Lewis Newsom, a highly reputable man, about arrangements for a picnic.

But the jury disregarded Newsom's testimony and everything that was in Purvis' favor. They returned a verdict of guilty as charged.

On Aug. 5, 1893, Purvis was sentenced to be hanged on Feb. 7, 1894. In Oct. 1893, the Mississippi Supreme Court upheld the sentence.

On the day of the execution Purvis mounted the scaffold. His last words were, "You are taking the life of an innocent man." Then the rope was put around his neck. The deputy sheriff noticed that the end of the rope was dangling from the knot and cut it off. The executioner lifted his hatchet and cut the rope holding the trap. Will Purvis dropped through the trap, the knot around his neck untwisted and he fell down, alive.

Condemned Second Time

The crowd that watched the execution thought this was a sign and insisted the execution should be stopped.

The case of Will Purvis went again to the Supreme Court of Mississippi. On July 31, 1895, the court decided that Purvis should be hanged again.

On the eve of his second day of execution Will Purvis, with the help of friends, escaped from prison and went to a secret hideout. He stayed there until half a year later when the new governor of Mississippi, A. J. McLaurin, commuted his sentence to life.

Two years later the chief witness for the prosecution,

Jim Buckley, admitted he may have been mistaken. The case was reopened and on Dec. 19, 1898, Will Purvis was pardoned.

Almost 20 years passed. Then, in 1917, Joe Beard, one of the two real murderers, made a full, deathbed confession. In 1920 the Mississippi legislature voted to give Will Purvis $5,000 as compensation for the four years he spent in jail.

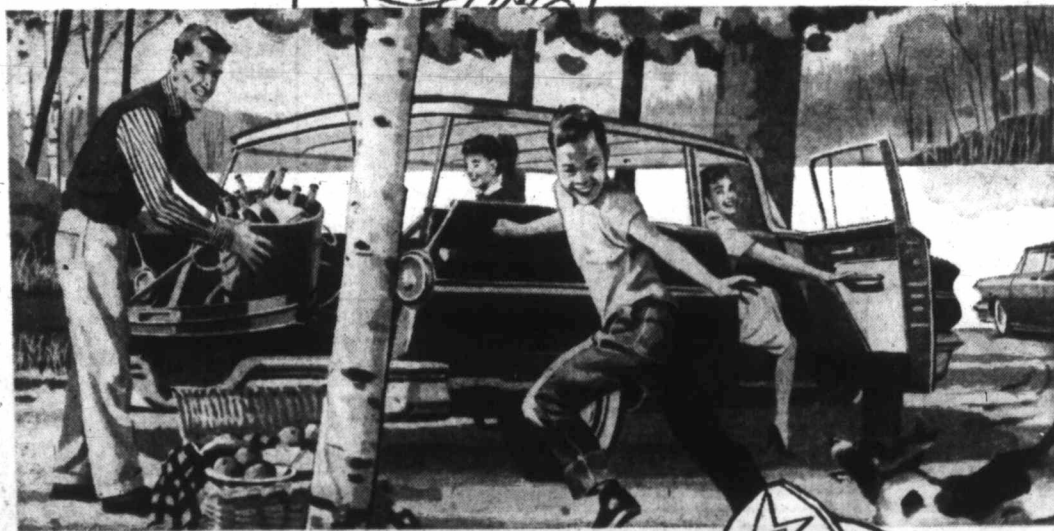

But they didn't offer him any compensation for that moment on Feb. 7, 1894, when he dropped through the trap with the rope around his neck.

Elixir May Prolong Life of Canada's Largest Oil Field

Daily Colonist Victoria, B.C., Thurs., Sept. 3, 1959 19

CALGARY (CP)—The vast Pembina oil field, Canada's largest, this week began receiving health injections expected to prolong its life by at least 50 years.

If the health plan works, the life of the field will be extended from 1980 to 2030 and at least 70 per cent of the oil will be economically extracted.

The elixir is a 50-50 mixture of two natural gas byproducts, propane and butane, plus a small amount of dry natural gas.

Pembina's 573 wells produce some 100,000 barrels of oil a day, or roughly a third of the total amount produced in Alberta.

Big problem is that the pressure of existing natural gas and other materials is only sufficient to force about 40 per cent of the oil to the surface. Under such conditions the field would be dry by 1980.

In recent months water has been forced into the oil cavities to maintain pressure, but this method is capable of extending the life of the field only to the end of the century. The new health plan is known to the industry as miscible flooding. Mobil Oil of Canada Ltd., which owns two-thirds of the wells in the field and operates the entire field under a cost-sharing unitiza-tion agreement with 22 other firms, is responsible for administering the program.

Under the new system, propane and butane are injected into the field, forming a large doughnut-shaped rim around limits of the formation. The dry natural gas is added and reaction is much like a household detergent.

When the field finally expires, it will be left with a large reservoir of natural gas which can be commercially recovered.

$10,000,000 for Phones

EDMONTON (UPI)—Deputy Provincial Treasurer F. G. Stewart says arrangements are all but set to raise $10,000,000 through the New York market for the use of Alberta Government Telephones. This boosts the AGT debt to more than $102,000,000.

'Public Has Right To Be Informed'

LONDON (Reuters)—Two British national newspapers have criticized news coverage arrangements for President Eisenhower's talks here with Prime Minister Macmillan.

Did Slayer Call Police After Killing Watchman?

VANCOUVER (CP) — An aged night watchman, injured in an attempted safecracking in midtown Vancouver, was suffocated in his own vomit early Wednesday. Police said his death amounts to murder. The body of Valno Alto, 69, was found in an explosion-damaged office at Johnston National Storage Ltd. after police said an anonymous phone caller, apparently involved in the killing, told them a "watchman needs help at Johnston's." Alto had been gagged with

U.S. National Debt Soars to Record

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. national debt has topped $290,000,000,000 for the first time in history. On a per capita basis, that is a liability of about $1,124 for every American adult and child.

Eisenhower's talks here with Prime Minister Macmillan. The Times says the televised "fireside chat" by the two leaders on Monday was not an adequate substitute for a formal communiqué or press conference.

The Daily Express raps the twice-daily briefings for 500 reporters covering the meetings as producing "silly answers to silly questions" because "there was no news to divulge."

The Times says the public "has a right to be more widely, more independently and more immediately informed" and that "so far no way of doing this has been found better than the press."

While "the television cameras may offer an escape from the awkward questioner," television programs "give little satisfaction to the serious student of affairs."

Referring to the late George Orwell's novel, "1984," The Times comments: "There were moments Monday evening when benevolent big brother did not seem so very far away."

Death Ends Celebration

SOUTH GATE, Calif. (UPI)—The four members of the David Sprinkle family burned to death Wednesday hours after the father and mother returned from a celebration of their 12th wedding anniversary.

Victims were Sprinkle, 35, his wife Beryl, 27, their son David, Jr., 6, and their daughter Star, 5.

Cause of the blaze was not known but firemen said a smouldering cigarette may have set the flames which wrecked the modest frame house.

'Robin Hood' Out of Jail

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. — Former banker William "Uncle Bill" Rose, 53, whose "Robin Hood" lending policies once plunged this community into a financial crisis, returned home from jail yesterday.

He was freed after serving less than two years of a five-year term for misapplying $1,195,000 of a now-defunct bank by lending funds to hard-pressed friends.

Rose, whose 86-year-old mother—sitting in a rocking chair on the front porch—was the only person to welcome him, will go to work as a salesman in a hardware store next to the bank he victimized. He'll earn $70 a week.

B.C. People 'Indifferent' About Rest of Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—Adelard Savoie, Moncton, N.B., lawyer, says Acadians in New Brunswick have noticed a marked increase of interest in the French language.

More and more people across Canada appear to feel that bilingualism is a necessity rather than a luxury, said Mr. Savoie.

He addressed the annual meeting of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

But Lister Sinclair, author and television personality, said the people of his native B.C. are far different from residents of other parts of Canada.

He said B.C. people are not too concerned about the problems of other provinces, and feel separated from the rest of Canada because of the Rockies.

Relations between Ontario and Quebec and between English- and French-speaking Canadians left British Columbians rather cold. They were not afraid to accept university grants from the federal government because of fear there was a string attached. They felt there was no string long enough to reach from Ottawa to British Columbia. Ottawa was farther away than the moon as far as British Columbians were concerned.

EATON'S

Around the Store

Strolling around EATON'S can be as fascinating as a trip through an Oriental bazaar—with sundry advantages, such as lack of flies, absence of throat catching odours, and security both for your person and your purchases. Where else, may we rhetorically demand, would you come across an art exhibit, a rip-snorting bargain sale, the latest in fashions, just the gift for your favourite aunt, a demonstration of a really wash-and-wear shirt, and an organist playing sweet and low, all within five minutes? Whether or not you plan to buy something, a trip through EATON'S is always an experience—as our own wandering of today will show.

Starting with the Douglas Street Windows, always a focal point for Victorians, it would appear to your roving reporter that fashions this Fall will be feminine. For those who can remember some of the fashions of the twenties, that's not as silly a remark as it seems! The card in the window states "First Flashes of Fall Fashions," and a short stroll to the second floor confirmed our thinking. This Fall, there's no need to flinch when you parade your latest purchase for friend husband—he'll be delighted—in fact, you can with safety bring him down to shop with you!

Hopping on the escalator from second to third floor, we ran smack into the Fall Fabric Sale. In our experience, there are sales, sales and SALES, and EATON'S Fabric Sales are SALES. A glance at some of the yardage on display showed why the smartest seamstresses of Victoria were busily making their selections for Fall. All-wool tweed at 2.99 a yard is not to be found every day—the tweed is to be found, all right, but the price is usually 4.50! This is just one example of the values—and since said sale continues Thursday (see the advertisement overleaf) you still have a chance at the values.

Up one, on the fourth floor, you'll find an exhibition of watercolours by Owen Goward. Mr. Goward is a Victorian, an engineer by profession but a painter by avocation, and a member of the Oregon Society of Artists. His profession takes him to many parts of our province, and on the walls of the Victoria Room you see the record of his travels. Naturally, we looked for Victoria landscapes, and were rewarded with one of our favourite views—the houses climbing up the hillside at Shoal Bay. There's a view of Vancouver's two bridges from Burnaby Mountain, which you really should see, and many other fine paintings, especially of the Okanagan.

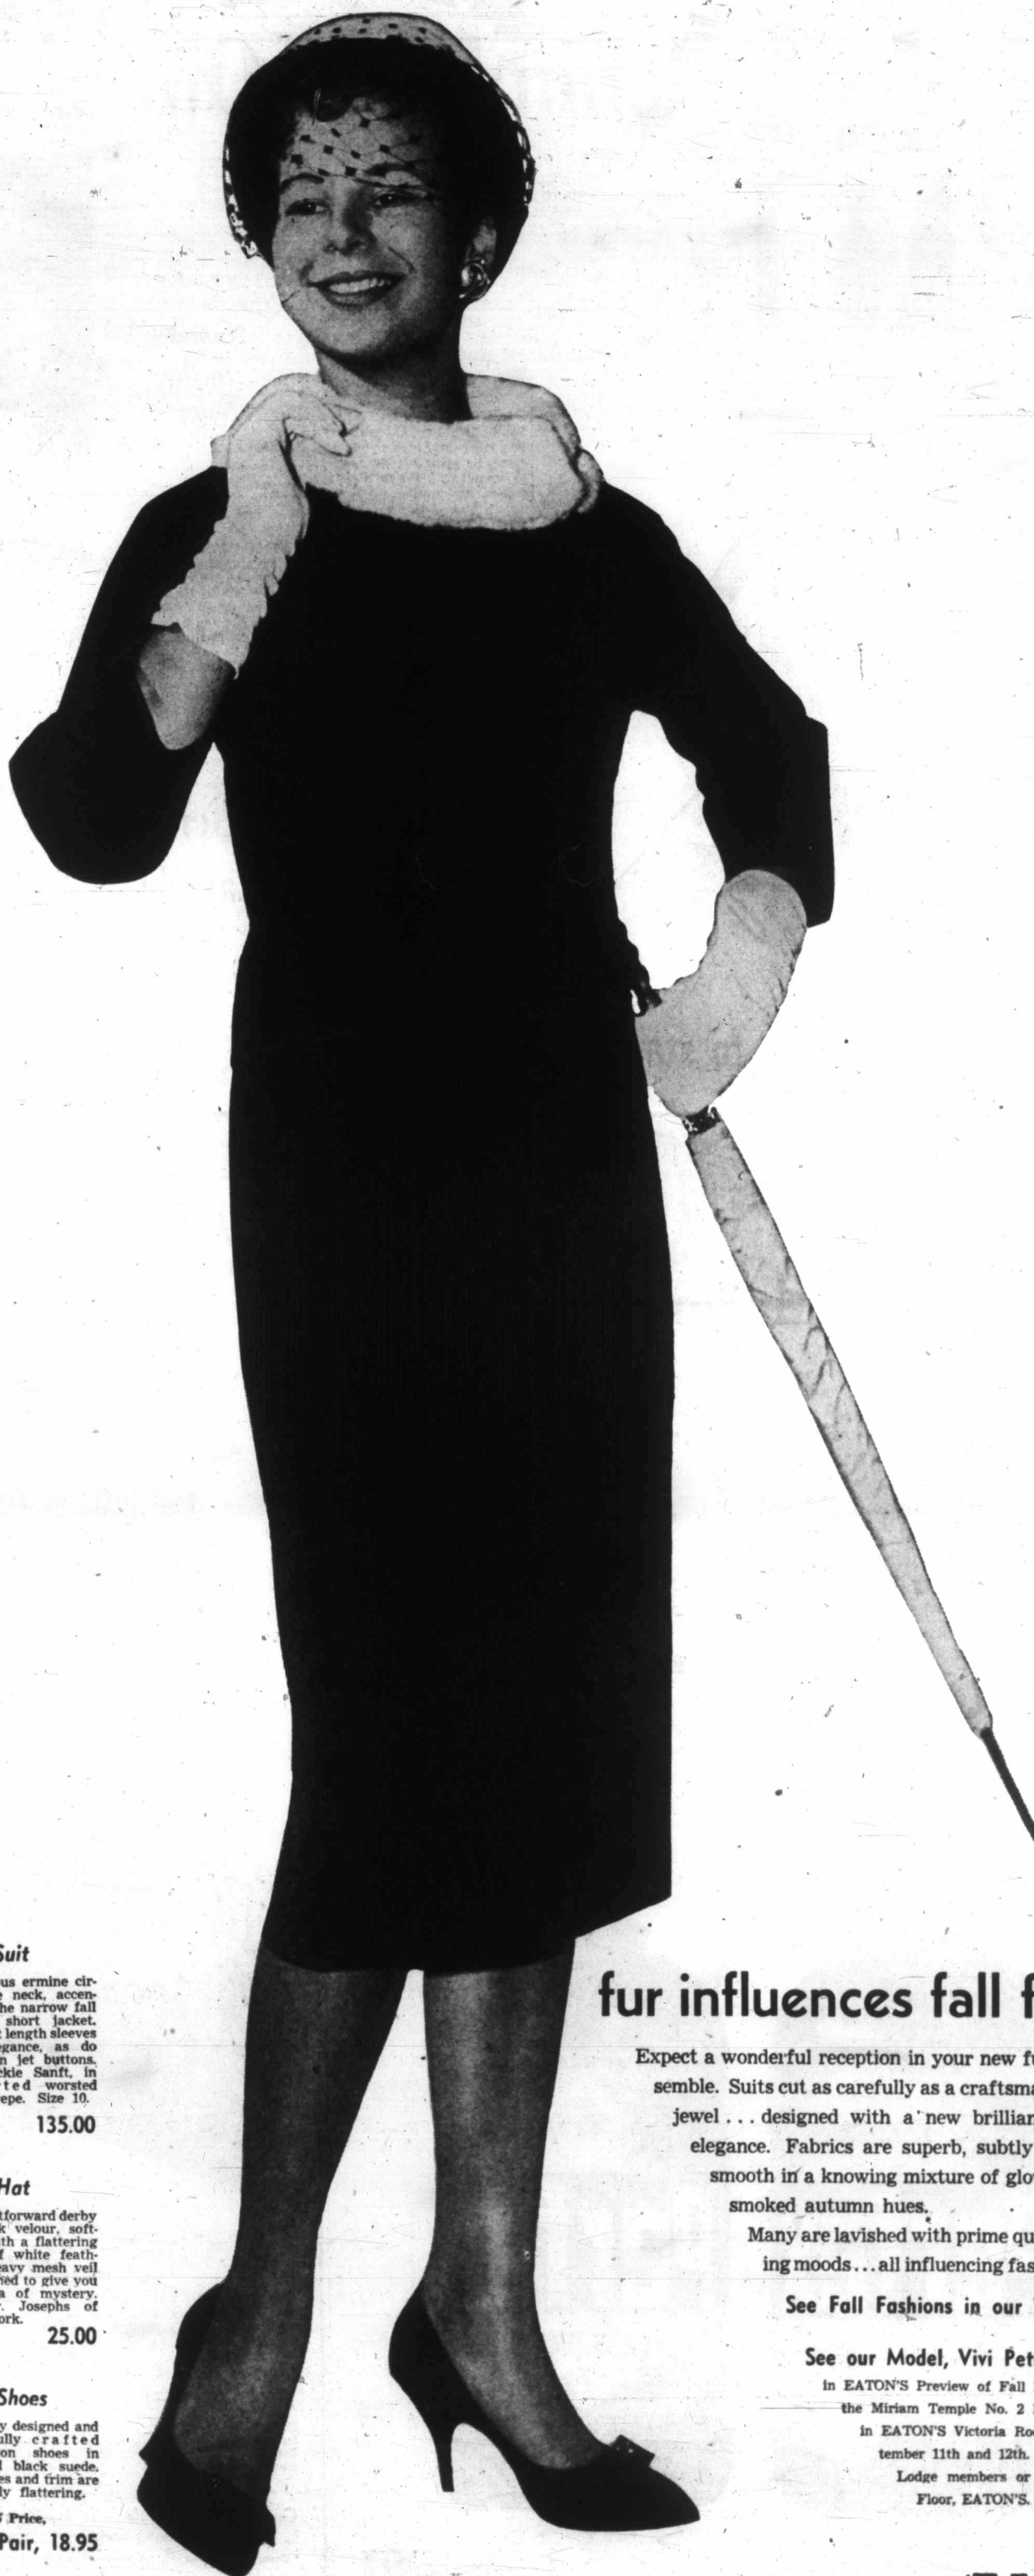

Stepping off the escalator at the Main Floor, we saw from the activity at various counters that the Family Drug Sale (Oops—SALE) was still in full swing. You know, alas, too well, how soon Fall will be here, and tonics, vitamins, and various remedies will clutter up the breakfast table again. The pain of pill-taking can be somewhat softened by the knowledge that you're saving 20% on every swallow—so why not buy now, because that's just the saving you'll make.

A trip across to the House Furnishings Building brought us to the Ticket Booth and Information Centre, right next to the Record Bar. Most frequent question asked by visitors—"Where is the China Department?" China is obviously a very popular souvenir or "take-home" gift, and one look at the wonderful displays in the China Department (Government at View, in case you're asking the same question!) will show you why. Delicate bone china cups and saucers, exquisite Royal Doulton figurines, or charming Hummel children, are just a few of the attractive pieces you'll see there.

The Ticket Booth part of the business is in summer doldrums, but you can buy your ticket to "Look Back in Anger," the "angry young man" play by John Osborne. This is a production of the Intimate Stage group, and promises to be a smash hit. Flora Nicholson directs, and the cast includes Daphne Legge-Willis, Margot Thomson, John Gilliland, Tony Nicholson and Evan Jones, so you can be sure that you'll get a full share of entertainment for your dollar. Oh, the dates—Sept. 10, 11, 12, at the Art Gallery.

Always suggestible, we next felt the urge to "Follow the Red Arrows" and inevitably ended up at the School Supply Section on the lower main floor. Here we fell to sighing for our own lost youth. Why, when we were young, you had to pick up your school supplies bit by bit, and it took all the time you had. Not any more—the kids of today just dash in to EATON'S, grab a package containing all the supplies for their grade, and dash right out again. This leaves a chunk of spare time on Tuesday, September 8th, for the smart schoolgoers who are doing their buying right now!

Royal Visit Bills In

$640 Address Tossed Aside

Next time royalty visits Victoria, there may be no traditional illuminated address of welcome.

The work of art presented to Queen Elizabeth cost $640, and city council finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell has expressed doubt that the tradition should be continued under the circumstances.

The circumstances include the fate of the address: city clerk M. F. Hunter said he found it, after the presentation, tossed carelessly into the back seat of an empty, open-windowed car of the royal party. The city's seal was already peeling off in the warm sunshine.

The cost and fate of the illuminated address were not the only things that bothered the finance committee. It found bills for Greater Victoria civic expenditures on the royal visit amounted to more than $5,000, more than twice as much as originally estimated.

But hope was expressed that the provincial government would pay the $1,330 cost of preparing the Beacon Hill field for military ceremonies, and the committee decided to take the whole matter to the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee for a decision on the sharing of the cost.

Island-Mainland

Heavy Travel Expected Over Holiday

Labor Day weekend travel is expected to be heavy between Victoria and the mainland, but city transportation agencies are confident they can carry the load.

Additional service is being provided to handle the extra passengers.

A spokesman for Washington State Ferries, which links the island with Port Angeles, said last night he expects few United States tourists to be aboard the ferries, returning home, over the weekend.

DULL HERE

"The weather has been dull here for the past few days and most of them seem to have returned already," he said.

But the company expects to run to capacity with Island passengers. Four sailings daily are in operation.

C. H. Lanigan, reservations supervisor for Trans-Canada Air Lines, said last night "we can cope with the traffic."

Department of Transport restrictions on the use of the main runway at Patricia Bay have forced the company to reduce passenger loads from 28 to 22 passengers, and to restrict operations to daylight hours.

"We have a lot of extra sections on," he said. "We have 10 DC-3 aircraft and two North Stars going to Vancouver at present and five flights daily to Seattle."

EXTRA SECTIONS

"If the demand warrants it we will put extra sections on. We have put seven extra aircraft on for Saturday."

"Bookings is fairly heavy, but there is still space available," Mr. Lanigan said. "Sun day bookings are lower than usual."

A spokesman for Vancouver Island Coach Lines said additional "crimson carpet" bus services are planned for the weekend.

Additional buses will connect with additional ferries between Nanaimo and Vancouver. "We will run overloads where necessary," the spokesman said. "Bookings for Friday evening and Saturday morning are quite high."

Alex Horne, Victoria passenger agent for CPR Steamships, said additional sailings will be arranged between Nanaimo and Vancouver over the weekend.

PRETTY BUSY

"It's going to be pretty busy," he said. "We think we are going to be pretty well tight."

Plans to reduce the frequency of two ferry runs to Washington ports after the Labor Day weekend were announced yesterday.

Washington State Ferries will reduce the Sidney-Anacortes service Wednesday to two round trips daily. The winter schedule, with one round trip daily, will begin Oct. 13.

The Victoria-Port Angeles service will be cut to two round trips daily—noon and 4 p.m.—from Sept. 16. The service will continue through Sept. 28, when the service will close down for the winter.

Liquor Car Looters Still on the Loose

Victoria detectives were still trying last night to track down looters who broke into a sealed railway liquor car late Tuesday.

College Council To Look Again

Victoria College Council next week will take a second look at a proposal that it move its campus to Gordon Head.

The proposal will be in the form of a brief prepared by a joint committee of the council and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

If the college council endorses the brief it will present the contents to the provincial cabinet for government consideration.

City barrister Lloyd MacKenzie, chairman of the joint committee said work on the brief is progressing and that it will be ready for submission to the college council in a few days.

Victoria College at present occupies a 57-acre campus on Lansdowne Road, although it owns 120 acres of former army land at Gordon Head.

Hanging in the balance is a $3,500,000 construction program to expand facilities on the present campus.

Victoria chamber officials believe the university will ultimately need the larger site and that the move to it should be made before the investment in buildings and equipment grows too large at the Lansdowne Road campus.

The college council has stated that the move to Gordon Head would cost $7,000,000 to $8,000,000.

The council in effect turned down the Gordon Head site when it announced early last month that it planned the construction program for the present campus.

Fugitives Launch Appeal

Three men who were sentenced to five years imprisonment for offences that followed their recent escape from William Head minimum security prison will appeal the sentences in B.C. Appeal Court.

Their appeals will be heard when the court sits Tuesday in Victoria and Vancouver.

The men are Peter Schneider, 32, Alvin Boehm, 33, and Raymond Stolz, 19.

Cambrian Salvor

No Civic Welcome For Epic Tow Crew

Mayor Percy Scurrell said yesterday he did not think the city would extend an official civic welcome to the crew and captain of the Victoria tug Cambrian Salvor in October.

But he said he would be glad to attend any welcome-home banquet for the men who wrote marine history by towing a 32,000-ton battleship from Chile to Japan.

"They've done a fine job, but I don't believe the city should provide the welcome ... this a commercial venture."

The Island Tug and Barge Company vessel is due to return to Victoria early next month.

A Victoria Chamber of Commerce official recently stated a civic welcome should be extended to the tug's skipper, Capt. James van Komodo, and his crew.

Victoria publicity commissioner George I. Warren said it would be "a tragedy" if the vessel's return went unrecognized.

End Long Waits

Keep Buses On Move BCE Told

The B.C. Electric Co. could make money during slack periods by providing more frequent service, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt claimed last night.

"Buses don't make any money sitting still," he said, adding it was very irritating for passengers to sit and "widdle their thumbs" at the end of the bus loop.

MEETING SLATED

Reeve Wurtele is chairman of a special transportation sub-committee of the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee. He will meet with bus company representatives at the end of this month to discuss the effects of reduced bus services which went into effect June 8.

"In slack periods the buses can travel over their routes more quickly," he said. "Traffic is lighter and there are fewer and shorter stops to pick up or set down passengers."

LONG WAITS

"Consequently, buses have long waits at the ends of their runs before their schedules require them to begin again," he said. "It isn't the running of the bus that costs money, it's the operator's salary."

The suggestion that buses should be run on tighter schedules during slack periods was made by a number of persons who have written to Reeve Wurtele, at Esquimalt municipal hall, giving their views on the reduced bus service.

Reeve Wurtele, at present, is the only remaining member of the transportation sub-committee. The other two members—former councillors Ralph Mathews of Oak Bay and Charles Nelles of Saanich both resigned their council seats recently. Other members will be appointed to the committee shortly.

Bursaries for 2,500

'Good News' Letters Sent to Students

More than 2,500 B.C. students have been sent letters informing them they have won provincial scholarships and bursaries ranging from $50 to $300.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson announced yesterday letters had been sent out Monday to all students successful in the competition for government scholarships and those awarded government bursaries. The awards, he said, would total more than $325,000.

No figures were available from his department on the number of awards won in any particular district.

Top Builders Coming Here During Tour

Top officials of the Canadian Construction Association will be in Victoria Sept. 15 during a five-week tour of western Canada.

Association president J. E. Harrington will be accompanied by several executive members. They will present briefs to the B.C. government on industry problems and developments.

Before coming to Victoria, the group will visit Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Shopping Mall

Translucent Covering For Alley?

Tenders will be called shortly for a translucent plastic roof which would make Trowce Alley the city's first covered shopping mall.

But only after bids are received will the proprietors of about a dozen stores along the Government Street-Broad Street shortcut decide whether or not to proceed with the project, according to its chief backer, George A. Barr.

Complete working drawings for the novel project have been prepared by a firm of city architects and soon will be in the hands of contractors. When a definite cost is known, Mr. Barr said, proprietors of the stores can proceed with financing plans.

Architect's estimates place the cost of the job between $12,000 and $20,000. Ends of the Trowce Alley mall would be enclosed with glass and a wrought-iron decorative motif would be a feature of the interior.

The plastic roof would be fitted yellow, to give the effect of year-round sunshine inside.

Ottawa Help Hailed By Municipal Chiefs

Spokesmen for the four Greater Victoria municipalities last night hailed Prime Minister John Diefenbaker's announcement that the federal government will again subsidize municipal work this winter.

Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt are all expected to take advantage of the scheme which provides half the cost of approved winter work which would not normally be done.

"I'm very happy that they are continuing the plan as it created a considerable amount of work last year," Mayor Percy Scurrell said. "With the experience we had last year we will probably be able to make more effective use of it."

Reeve George Chatterton: "Saanich will make the greatest possible use of the scheme. It was quite successful last year."

Reeve George Murdoch: "Oak Bay will again take advantage of the offer this year. Last winter the municipality employed a number of people who would not have been employed otherwise."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt could not be reached by telephone last night. John Graeme, municipal engineer, said: "I feel sure the council will want to repeat a program similar to that of last year, which was mainly parks and boulevards."

"Last winter we employed about 12 additional men for about four months."

The plan will go into effect from Dec. 1 and will run through April 30. The federal government has provided $15,000,000 for the program during the coming winter—a 50 per cent increase over the amount provided last winter. Other details are the same as last year.

Announcing the decision to repeat the plan Mr. Diefenbaker said he was making the announcement earlier than last year to allow municipalities time to prepare projects.

Criticism of the scheme came from Labor Minister Lyle Wicks.

"I hope they have extended the benefits and broadened the scope of the scheme so that more municipalities can take advantage of it," he said. "I hope they have considered some of the suggestions made for improving the scheme."

Area Voters' Lists Now Being Compiled

Voters' lists for the four Greater Victoria municipalities are being compiled, in readiness for the Dec. 10 elections.

Registered owners of property in any of the municipalities—Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay or Esquimalt—are automatically included in the 1959 rolls.

But tenant electors and resident electors have to make application. Notices are being sent to all tenant or resident electors who were on the 1958 roll and advertisements are being published, calling for applications from new residents or tenants.

To qualify as a resident elector a person must be at least 21 years old, a British subject, and have resided continuously in the municipality for a minimum of six months. Tenant electors need the qualifications of age and nationality and must have been tenants of property in the municipality for a minimum of six months.

Deadline of registration of tenant and resident electors is 5 p.m. Sept. 30. Forms may be obtained from municipal offices.

Boy, 10, Runs Away To Dodge Spanking

A 10-year-old Victoria boy, fearing a severe reprimand after accidentally firing his father's rifle through an open bedroom window, ran away from home with his younger sister yesterday.

Jimmy Kolesar, and his eight-year-old sister Judith, were found at Fort and Douglas by city police at 10 p.m., about eight hours after they left home.

Their mother, Mrs. Yvonne Kolesar, said she told Jimmy that his father, Leslie, would reprimand him when the father arrived home Wednesday night. But, when that time came, both children were missing.

Mrs. Kolesar learned of their departure from another son, Michael, nine. She said Jimmy told her that he was playing with the rifle and that "it went off."

She thought her husband would spank the boy for playing with the gun but said later that she thought the frightening experience of being alone on a city street was punishment enough.

PERSONAL MENTION

The Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, who left eastern Canada yesterday for the United Kingdom, will attend as a guest of the Scottish Industries Exhibition at Glasgow, the opening ceremonies of the exhibition at which HRH Princess Margaret will officiate today and will also attend the luncheon today at which Princess Margaret will be present.

On Friday, which is Canada Day at the exhibition, His Honor will be the luncheon guests of the Lord Provost of Glasgow.

Mrs. Ross is remaining at St. Andrews, N.B. until Sept. 9, when she will join the lieutenant-governor in London.

Dinner Party Friday

Mrs. George W. Hunt will entertain on Friday evening at a dinner party at the Princess Mary restaurant following the wedding rehearsal of her daughter, Miss Dorothy Hunt, and her fiancé Mr. Joseph Hager. Guests will be members of both families and the bridal party. Recently Miss Hunt was guest of honor at a coffee party given by Mrs. R. A. Coleman at her Beach Drive home. A kitchen shower was held for her at the Mount Joy Avenue home of Mrs. E. C. Carson. Mrs. J. Owen Jones assisted the hostess. Two of Miss Hunt's bridal attendants Miss Pat White and Miss Margaret Duke entertained at a shower at Miss Duke's home on Neil Street.

Tea Attended by 100

In honor of Miss Margaret Patterson, who retired recently from her position of chief X-Ray technician after 35 years in the department at Royal Jubilee Hospital, a tea was held and attended by 100 employees and former employees. Presentations were made to Miss Patterson by Dr. H. H. Murphy, Dr. H. M. Edmison and Mr. Pat Smith. Among the guests were Mr. George Masters, Jr., J. L. Murray Anderson, Mr. J. L. Hobbs, Mrs. Margo Hope, and Miss Beryl Ferguson. Dr. and Mrs. Edmison gave a cocktail party for Miss Patterson at their Mount Joy Avenue home. Guests included members of the X-Ray staff. At present, Miss Patterson is at Shawigan Lake for a short holiday and she plans to leave this fall for an extended visit in Florida.

Visit to Salt Spring

Just returned to their Victoria homes after a visit to Burgoyne Valley, Salt Spring Island as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. French Sr., were Mrs. R. A. Elliott with Stephen and Jim, Mrs. J. D. French, with Dawn and Michelle, and Mrs. E. Fisher, with Paul and Penny.

Miscellaneous Shower

September bride-elect, Miss Beverly Hinton was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. R. Iverson at her Arnot Avenue home. Corsages were presented to Miss Hinton, her mother, Mrs. Hap Hinton and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. W. Puddicombe. Guests included Mrs. T. Bell, Mrs. C. Calder, Mrs. N. Ethel, Mrs. G. Estes, Mrs. O. M. Elliott, Mrs. J. Morrison, Mrs. S. Nelson, Mrs. O. Smith, Mrs. J. McLean, Mrs. R. Upward and the Misses Marilyn Iverson, Pam Elliott, Doreen and Sharyn Hinton, Mary Bell, Sharon Smith.

Queen Margaret's Party

DUNCAN — Friends and parents of students are invited to attend a coffee party on Friday at Queen Margaret's School, from 10:45 a.m. to noon, being given by the founders, Miss N. C. Denny and Miss Dorothy Geoghegan.

Visitor from New York

Mrs. Alberta H. Mitchell, of New York, has arrived in Victoria and will be the guest of Mrs. T. B. Monk, Yale Street, Oak Bay.

Change of Residence

The Misses E. Brumpton and L. Brumpton have moved from their home, 1024 St. David Street to the Telawny Apartments, 1266 Newport Avenue.

Visitor to Fulford

Mr. A. Barrett of Victoria is visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dickens, of Fulford Harbor.

Horseshoes and Heather

Miss Wendy Cox gave a miscellaneous shower at the home of her parents, on Phyllis Street, recently, to honor Miss Joyce Taylor, bride-elect. Shower gifts were placed in a decorated wishing well and a Good Luck cake featured horseshoes and white heather. Guests included: Mrs. D. Taylor, bride-elect's mother and Miss Mary Nicolson, the groom elect's aunt, Mrs. J. Cox, Mrs. R. Thomas, Mrs. H. Nicolson, Mrs. E. Stewart, Mrs. H. Pickup, Mrs. T. Hurly, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. A. Read, Mrs. R. Kent, Mrs. V. Shemilt, Mrs. G. Thomas, Mrs. J. Hurley, Mrs. D. Kendall, Mrs. D. Sneddon, Mrs. H. Rough, Mrs. B. Andersen, Mrs. D. Groves, Mrs. D. Robertson, Misses Janet Nicolson, Doris Thomas and Kathleen Thornberry.

Leaving Sept. 17

Mrs. B. P. Harding, B.C. Anglican Diocesan Board president, will leave Victoria, Sept. 17, to attend the meetings of the dominion executive of the W.A. of the Anglican Church of Canada to be held in St. John's Church, Shaughnessy, Vancouver.

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, Sept. 3rd — It usually pays to keep your sights high... meaning, if there is something extra special you really want or need, it's often better to refuse to compromise with an "almost as good" second choice. If you have such a problem, I suggest you learn about the new BANK OF MONTREAL Family Finance Plan. If you have a steady income and can make monthly loan repayments without hardship, almost any useful purchase can be made under this comprehensive plan. The low monthly repayments can be extended up to two, or even three, years. Keep your sights high... and arrange your low-cost, life-insured loan, at your friendly neighborhood branch of "My Bank."

HAPPY IS THE TALENTED COOK who uses nutritious BLUE BONNET in all her baking... She has found that Blue Bonnet is the sure key to light and luscious cakes and pastries, tempting muffins and toothsome cookies. This same wise mother knows that piping-hot vegetables are more truly flavorful when served with extra-good Blue Bonnet melting through. Delicious Blue Bonnet is a favorite table-spread because it's made from pure vegetable oils and pasteurized skim milk, with Vitamins A and D added... I'm sure you'll find everything tastes better with Blue Bonnet on it!

THIS IS MY FAVORITE MONTH — everywhere there's a harvest of colorful fruits and fully-ripened vegetables. A perfect time for salads... and their best friend—MIRACLE WHIP! Let's enjoy the light and lively flavor, the satin-smooth texture of Miracle Whip on garden-fresh tomatoes, beets and green beans—all so good! Day after day, I happily reach for Miracle Whip in the sure knowledge that, thanks to this delightful salad dressing by Kraft, my salads will be polished off with great gusto. Do be really wise and buy the large 32-oz. budget-wise jar. I know you'll share my enthusiasm!

THERE'S REAL TOGETHERNESS in my family's agreement about our favorite brand of canned peas. We all agree that AYLMER FANCY PEAS are the best-tasting, tenderest and sweetest. And I've found out why! First of all, Aylmer Fancy Peas are grown on carefully selected Canadian farms where sunshine, moisture and soil are just right. Then, when they've reached perfection, Aylmer rushes them, fresh-harvested, to nearby canneries and, often within an hour, seals and cooks them in the famous bright white tins. Look for them—sunshine-fresh Aylmer Fancy Peas!

I FIND IT HEART-BREAKING to see people suffer unnecessarily. That's why I wish you'd tell anyone you know who endures the agony of rheumatic, neuralgic or arthritic pains about the relief thousands of others have found in TEMPLETON'S TRC's. One lady from Quebec writes: "When I saw the wonderful relief my husband found from his pain, I used TRC's myself. Now the relief has been so great, that we are both capable of working, thanks to TRC's." You'll find them at drug counters everywhere. So if you are troubled or have friends who are afflicted with rheumatic, neuralgic or arthritic pain—get some TRC's today and enjoy the wonderful relief they will bring you!

This Successful Woman Proves It

Business, Home DO Combine

A career woman's lament that marriage and children are bad for business, or vice-versa, is a myth says a comely Victoria visitor who combines a five-figure income with home, husband and three daughters.

Anne Frimkiss, a speaker at a Manhattan Life Insurance Company conference at the Empress Hotel, got into the five-figure bracket when her husband was forced to trade the lush fees of a successful portrait photographer in Los Angeles for a private's modest stipend in the U.S. Army.

This happened about 12 years ago and the family's chief breadwinner has long since been back in his studio... but the income of the distaff side of the family just keeps going up.

MRS. ANNE FRIMKISS, ... restless personality

In some 11 years selling insurance Mrs. Frimkiss has written policies worth more than $10,000,000.

Her biggest year, "that was the year my last baby was born," she explains, saw $1,250,000 worth of insurance to her credit.

Her success in the highly competitive insurance business is almost as much of an enigma to her male contemporaries in the business as it is to an outsider.

Unlike most women in insurance she sells almost exclusively to men... mostly well-heeled business men.

Again, unlike others, she works only four hours a day at the business and refuses to get involved socially with her clients.

"My husband and I have our own social life and when I leave the office in the afternoon I leave the insurance business right inside it," she says.

She spends her mornings and her evenings with her family—her daughters are four, 16 and 18 years old—and Wednesday afternoons incurring modest losses on the ponies at one of California's many racetracks.

She admits she is a poor cook and a poor housekeeper, but then of course her income enables her to remedy these shortcomings with a good hired housekeeper.

Still, running the family's Los Angeles home and "a little place on the desert," to say nothing of creating a home life for husband and youngsters is quite a task.

"I don't waste much time," she admits. And asked her secret to a unique form of success she can only reply "I guess I'm a restless personality."

Gladioli Adorn Church

A variety of colored gladioli graced St. Mark's Anglican Church, in Vancouver, for the wedding of Miss Bernice Mae Escott to Mr. David Trevor Grey-Dreaper, of Victoria.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Escott, of Vancouver. The groom's mother is Mrs. Winnifred Grey-Dreaper, Kipling Street.

Carrying white carnations, red roses and heather, the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and chiffon with a pearl and sequined sweetheart neckline and a coronet of tulle to hold her lace-edged finger-tip veil.

Attendants, Mrs. Lynn Holmes and Miss Lorna Escott, chose mauve chiffon gowns with Morning Dawn carnations.

Best man, from Kitimat, was Mr. A. Monti, and usher was Mr. Verne Ferguson. Wedding toast was proposed by Mr. Donald Kylo.

In Canadian Stores

High Fashions Soon on Sale

TORONTO (CP)—Women's fashions from the drawing boards of some of Canada's most exclusive designers will soon be available in Canadian ready-to-wear stores.

Members of the Association of Canadian Couturiers announced Wednesday that negotiations are being completed which will introduce copies of their fashions in Canadian stores.

Thirteen members of the five-year-old association unveiled their fall and winter collections at a trade breakfast yesterday.

Skirts underwent a major change with the new trend to tunics and the tunic hemline. Overskirts, both wide and narrow, provided the double hemline effect. The tapered skirt of the past was replaced by a straighter model with the material gently rounded over the hipline.

Daytime dresses were generally two inches below the knee, but a few were one inch shorter and Mario Di Nardo of Montreal showed daytime dresses just to the knee.

Lowered waistlines showed the longer torso look. Some were lowered at the back and raised at the front.

Shoulders were wider. Several dropped shoulderlines were emphasized by over-mounted sleeves.

Engagement Announced

The engagement has been announced of Jacqueline May Scarlett, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Butt, 707 Robleda Crescent, to Mr. Donald Stuart Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Thomson, 150 Douglas Street. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 26 at 1 p.m. in the Church of St. George the Martyr, Cadboro Bay. — (Mr. Thomson's photo by Campbell, Vancouver.)

Couple Wed at Naden Honeymooning in Regina

Honeymooning in Regina are recent newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lyle Deal, married quietly in HMCS Naden Chapel by Padre W. L. Dalton.

The bride is the former Ruth Evelyn Patchett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Patchett, of Ganges, Salt Spring Island. The groom is from Regina.

Attending the bride, who was gowning in a white linen sheath with a chapel-length veil, and who carried roses and carnations on a white Bible, was Miss Sylvia Rommuk of Port Moody in a green nylon dress with beige accessories and a carnation corsage.

Best man was Mr. Harold Wagenstein, shipmate of the groom, from Port Coquitlam.

FARM WOMEN

Women in Canada's farm labor force increased by 16,000 in 1958 to a monthly average of more than 50,000.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: We've been married 12 years and have four little ones. Yesterday I found $100 in an old sock tucked in a shoe box. This is the second time in six months I've found large sums of money in the house. First my husband said he didn't know who it belonged to, then confessed he'd been saving it "to surprise me."

He used to gamble but I don't think he does any more. I'm worried sick because I don't know where he's getting the money or what to do about it. Please help me.—LILY.

Dear Lily: "Hidden money" is usually bad news. Tell him he has one more chance to explain where it came from before you see your clergyman.

Dear Ann: Mother and I are arguing about a silly thing. I'm going to be married on Christmas Day. I wear my hair short and close to my head. Mother wants me to let my hair grow about three inches so I'll look like "a traditional bride." She says this hair style is masculine and a wedding crown and veil will look terrible.

My fiancé doesn't care one way or the other. What is your opinion.—POLLY.

Dear Polly: It's your hair and your wedding, so the decision should be yours. But I do agree with Mother there's nothing pretty about a bald-headed bride.

Soul-Destroying

Dear Ann Landers: I am a guest in your country. But since "speaking out" seems to be a North American custom, here goes. I will not name my own country as I do not wish to strain diplomatic relations.

The social hoax known as the cocktail party is not only frightfully boring, it is soul-destroying. Why do you put up with it? Are you so sick and socially insecure that you must tolerate inane banter, pointless chatter, not to mention horrible hors d'oeuvres, in order to see and to be seen?

Your women look as if their feet hurt but they must keep smiling because of a hidden camera in the room. And your men — laughing at old jokes and bragging about business — they are even more pathetic.

You are trying to buy culture and assume a position of world leadership — but one look at your cocktail parties persuades me you won't make it for at least 500 years. FOREIGNER.

Dear Foreigner: Since you already think we are crude, phony and dull, I won't hurt diplomatic relations much by suggesting that you put your nose back in joint.

I've been to cocktail parties in other countries and the crowd looks pretty much the same the world over. The women martini drinkers in England and France wear the same bored smiles. And the men in Switzerland and Italy laugh at old jokes, too.

If you want to know what North America is all about visit our farms, factories, schools and museums. Look at our laboratories, our hospitals and our churches. And skip the cocktail parties.

School Lunch Boxes Go On Parade Soon

It's back to school with books, balls and lunch boxes, those gay and pretty ones especially. A gay lunch box causes comment. And you can make real curiosity seekers out of students in your family. If their lunch boxes are filled with body-building foods as well as favorite fun foods.

Be imaginative when you plan lunch box menus, include something hot. That something hot should be tantalizing and nutritious. What better than a vacuum bottle of soup.

Sandwiches are accepted practice in a lunch box; give them special interest. A sandwich with slices of luscious meat loaf answers the need. Crisp salad greens and your favorite spread or dressing complete the sandwich. For a surprise, a whole fresh tomato cut and topped with stuffed olives.

Wrap up brownies or date bars for the finale. Tuck in a piece of fresh fruit too. As you pack the foods neatly away for toting, rest assured that your student has a filling, tasty lunch.

FAVORITE MEAT LOAF

One can (10 ounces) condensed tomato soup, 1½ pounds ground beef, ¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs, ¼ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 egg (slightly beaten), 1 teaspoon salt, dash black pepper.

Combine ½ can soup with other ingredients; shape into a loaf or pack lightly into a greased loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 1 hour. Pour remaining soup over loaf; bake 15 minutes longer. Eight servings.

Ex-Servicewomen Invited to Rally

Ex-Servicewomen's Branch, Canadian Legion, 50 members strong, is looking for new members.

Today at 8 p.m. they are extending an invitation to all women who served with Canadian or Allied Forces during the war to attend an open house.

Actually the invitation is broader than that. In new members they are looking for members of the branches of any Canadian or Commonwealth forces, including Nursing Sisters, who have served in the forces in the first, second or Korean Wars. Also members of the Reserve Units who have served for a period of over three years.

The open house will be held in the Britannia Auditorium on Blanshard Street.

Regular meetings are held the first Thursday of each month.

President of the group is S Sgt. Jerry Mumford, CWAC. Other officers are vice-president Mrs. Daphne Kirk, RCAF; secretary, Mrs. Joyce Corp. RNS; treasurer, Miss Dorothy Williams, RCAF and publicity, Miss Betty Kerr, RCAF.

The Ex-Servicewomen's Branch of the Legion was formed in 1945, at the end of the war.

Extra Hour Boosts Beer Parlor Profits

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba Hotel Association said Tuesday beer parlor profits have increased 10-to-15 per cent since they were allowed to stay open an extra hour. The extra hour was a compensation for time removed when Manitoba's new liquor laws became effective and parlors were ordered to close between 6.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Anti-Hanging Clamor Mounting, Says Union

SASKATOON (CP)—The union would do all in its power, through the Canadian Labor Congress, to abolish the death penalty in Canada. The resolution, from Vancouver Local 180, said nine out of 10 death sentences are commuted by the federal cabinet. Delegates representing 43,000 civic workers passed a motion of non-concurrence in an Alberta move to abolish "moonlighting," the practice of holding two jobs. The Alberta Federation of Labor had asked that the federal government require employers to retain unemployment insurance books at all times.

A resolution passed at the annual convention said the Steel Talks Going Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Top union and industry negotiators, meeting again after a five-day recess, exchanged views Wednesday on ways to settle the 50-day-old steel strike.

Neither side would indicate whether progress had been made. Talks resume today.

'One Law' for Rich' Charge to Be Probed

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Free Press says Premier Duff
Roblin has ordered an investigation of the Manitoba fisheries branch as a result of charges that it has one law for the rich and another for the poor.

The newspaper says the investigation is being administered by Resources Minister
C. A. Witney but its chief supporter is Health Minister George Johnson, who represents the Lake Winnipeg fishing community of Gimli.

The incident said to have provoked the investigation occurred at Grand Rapids on the west shore of the lake, when illegal gear was seized from a boat owned by a large fish company.

The newspaper says that several independent fishermen found with illegal gear lost all their gear. But in the Grand Rapids incident all but the illegal gear was returned to the offending boat.

The Free Press says that when complaints of favoritism reached the premier, he ordered the department to report in detail on its entire confiscation procedure, and how it has been carried out through the summer.

Sealing Brothers Die Within Week

George Bromley Rites
To Be Held Saturday

Funeral services for George Bromley, who was probably British Columbia's oldest surviving day of the last century, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Hayward's funeral home.

Mr. Bromley died Tuesday on his 96th birthday at Gorge Road Hospital, only five days after the death of his 94-year-old brother, John Bromley.

Born in 1863 in Twillingate, Nfld., George Bromley learned the sealing trade on the east coast before coming "around the Horn" to Victoria in 1888. Victoria was then the centre of the west coast sealing industry, each February sending fleets of 60 ships to brave the Pacific Ocean from Alaska to Japan.

The fleet would first travel south as far as Santa Barbara, Calif., then up the west coast of Vancouver Island, across to the Russian coast via the Aleutian Islands, and finally on to Japan.

The sealers, George Bromley among them, would return in September with a stake of between $1,500 and $1,800 each—if the hunting had been good.

Moneymaking opportunities were good when they were hunting. Mr. Bromley recalled in a Colonist interview three years ago, that he had once bagged 36 seals in a day, receiving $4 a skin.

"Which worked out to roughly $1 a bruise" caused by the shotgun he used, he added.

When government action prohibited sealing in 1902, he came ashore to work. Working for the Victoria city works department, he helped construct such projects as the Causeway and the first cement sidewalk in the city.

SHIPWRIGHT

Later he worked as a shipwright for VMD, helping to build, among other things, the first car barges put into use in these waters by the CPR.

He was the oldest member of Court Northern Light, AOF.

GEORGE BROMLEY
... dies at 96

His wife Theresa, whom he married in Newfoundland on a trip back to the east coast in 1893, died in 1948. He is survived by two sons, Harold A. of Mecca, Calif., and Herbert O. of Port Townsend, Wash.; and three daughters, Mrs. Blanche MacKinnon, Mrs. Violet Corbett, and Mrs. Pearl Tuhenberg, all of Seattle.

Bright Lights Led Blonde To Grave

MONTREAL (CP)—A beautiful blonde was hurried Wednesday in an unmarked grave, away from the bright lights that fascinated her and led to her death.

Manon Paquin, 23, found last week floating in a sleeping bag half-submerged in a quiet creek west of Montreal Island, was buried in a paupers' grave.

No relatives or friends claimed the body. Manon was last seen on the arm of a six-foot man, now sought by police, as they left a nightclub Aug. 26.

Her death is still a puzzle to police, who are not even certain how she died.

'Rich Cancer Victim' Story Complete Hoax

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The story of a cancer victim inheriting $2,000,000 from her rich Scottish uncle, fell completely apart Wednesday as fact replaced fiction.

Mrs. Jean Naccarelli, 46, a Pittsburgh housewife, has not inherited such a sum from her late uncle, John Lennon of Aberdeen, as she said she had. John Lennon died several years ago, Mrs. Naccarelli's daughters said, leaving nothing like that vast sum.

Records show that telegrams supposedly telling Mrs. Naccarelli she inherited the money probably were sent from Pittsburgh and not Scotland.

Mrs. Naccarelli has said doctors give her only one year to live. Her husband says the only thing he knows about his wife's physical condition is that doctors "diagnose" her trouble as a "bad liver."

Mrs. Naccarelli is not the woman who was Miss Pittsburgh of 1932, as she claimed to be. The Marguerite Lennon who was the beauty queen that year now is Mrs. Charles Puskar, wife of a Pennsylvania postmaster.

Two daughters—Noreen, 20, and Jean, 16—are not a doctor and nurse on the staff of John Hopkins in Baltimore, the hospital has announced. The two girls are living in Homestead, Pa., with their father, Roy H. Francis, who was Mrs. Naccarelli's first husband.

The two girls have been quoted as saying their mother on some occasions has sent telegrams and flowers to herself. Felice Naccarelli confirmed his wife at least once sent herself a telegram—"on her birthday."

Cowichan Bay Anglers Having Good, Long Season

Cowichan Bay has had its off days this season, and some good ones, too, but there is no gainsaying that it has provided steady fishing for the past month. And indications are that anglers will continue to pull in spring salmon until the annual coho run shows up, which shouldn't be too many days away now.

Fishing has been good, this week and anglers are bringing in fresh-run springers. Nor is fishing necessarily confined to early morning. Two anglers reported in at Anchor Marina about 4 yesterday afternoon with fish weighing 21, 19 and 13 pounds and reported at least a half dozen defeats.

Meanwhile, entries received this week in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest have assured that August will set a new all-time high for the five-year-old fishing competition.

Biggest previous month was August of 1957, when 6,551 fish were entered. The total has already surpassed that and there is every chance that last month's fishing will produce the amazing total of 7,000 entries.

Bishop's Appeal Moves Anglicans

Dollars for Stained Glass, Cents for Gospel?

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que. (CP)—Rt. Rev. Ivor Norris, Bishop of Brandon, Man., Wednesday appealed to the Anglican Church of Canada—and all Christian Canadians—to "face up to the task of Christianizing" the Orient.

He complained that Canadian parishes seemed to prefer spending money on "stained glass windows" rather than spreading the gospel.

In an address which obviously moved delegates to the church's 20th general synod deeply, Bishop Norris described his recent tour of Anglican missions in the Far East and urged a much greater contribution from the Canadian church.

"How difficult it is for new nations to achieve self-government without the foundation of decency, honesty and respect for women and children which Christianity supplies," he said.

"We are teaching children to read," Bishop Norris said, "but we give them no Christian literature to read and they are turning Communist because the Communists supply them with literature."

He told of visiting missions in places like Hong Kong, under imminent threat of Communist engulfment, where refugees from behind the Bamboo Curtain have swamped

the already taxed facilities of the church.

"There are so few to do so much for these millions," Bishop Norris said.

All countries in the East face the problem of overpopulation, he said, and "I wonder if there is not going to be great catastrophe when the supply of food is simply not going to be large enough to feed the population."

And what, he asked, is the church going to say about the questions of compulsory sterilization and compulsory abortion which have arisen in some over-populated countries?

"We are not even thinking about these problems," Bishop Norris said.

The proportion of church money devoted to missionary work is dropping since "parishes often love to spend money on red carpets and stained glass windows and give what is left over to missions."

The real job is to spread the gospel, he told the delegates, and "winning the world for Christ is one of the greatest tasks before the church."

B.C.'s Opposition Kills 'Little Summit'

OLYMPIA (AP)—Gov. Rosellini said Wednesday the "Little Summit Conference" of Pacific Northwest government leaders which he proposed a year ago has been abandoned because British Columbia declined to participate.

The governor originally proposed a meeting of the chief executives of B.C., Oregon and Washington to discuss mutual interests.

Alaska Storm

Crash Kills Teenage Salesgirls

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A twin-engine plane crashed Tuesday night in a storm, killing six teenage girls on a magazine subscription tour, their crew chief and the pilot. The plane was 300 miles southwest of here when the pilot reported he was lost in a storm and running low on fuel. Wreckage was found yesterday.

The girls had been selling magazines in Alaska for several weeks and had just finished the tour at an Eskimo

Royal Visit Bills In

$640 Address Tossed Aside

Next time royalty visits Victoria, there may be no traditional illuminated address of welcome.

The work of art presented to Queen Elizabeth cost $640, and city council finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell has expressed doubt that the tradition should be continued under the circumstances.

The circumstances include the cost of the address; city clerk M. F. Hunter said he found it, after the presentation, tossed carelessly into the back seat of an empty, open-windowed car of the royal party. The city's seal was already peeling off in the warm sunshine.

The cost and fate of the illuminated address were not the only things that bothered the finance committee. It found bills for Greater Victoria civic expenditures on the royal visit amounted to more than $3,000, more than twice as much as originally estimated.

But hope was expressed that the provincial government would pay the $1,330 cost of preparing the Beacon Hill field for military ceremonies, and the committee decided to take the whole matter to the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee for a decision on the sharing of the cost.

Island-Mainland

Heavy Travel Expected Over Holiday

Labor Day weekend travel is expected to be heavy between Victoria and the mainland, but city transportation agencies are confident they can carry the load.

Additional service is being provided to handle the extra passengers.

A spokesman for Washington State Ferries, which links the Island with Port Angeles, said last night he expects few United States tourists to be aboard the ferries, returning home, over the weekend.

DULL HERE

"The weather has been dull here for the past few days and most of them seem to have returned already," he said.

But the company expects to run to capacity with Island passengers. Four sailings daily are in operation.

C. H. Lanigan, reservations supervisor for Trans-Canada Air Lines, said last night "we can cope with the traffic."

Department of Transport restrictions on the use of the main runway at Victoria International Airport at Patricia Bay have forced the company to reduce passenger loads from 28 to 22 passengers, and to restrict operations to daylight hours.

"We have a lot of extra sections on," he said. "We have 10 DC-3 aircraft and two North Stars going to Vancouver at present and five flights daily to Seattle."

EXTRA SECTIONS

"If the demand warrants it we will put extra sections on. We have put seven extra aircraft on for Saturday."

"Booking is fairly heavy, but there is still space available," Mr. Lanigan said. "Sunday bookings are lower than usual."

A spokesman for Vancouver Island Coach Lines said additional "crimson carpet" bus services are planned for the weekend.

Additional buses will connect with additional ferries between Nanaimo and Vancouver.

"We will run overloads where necessary," the spokesman said. "Bookings for Friday evening and Saturday morning are quite high."

Alex Horne, Victoria passenger agent for CPR Steamships, said additional sailings will be arranged between Nanaimo and Vancouver over the weekend.

PRETTY BUSY

"It's going to be pretty busy," he said. "We think we are going to be pretty well tight."

Plans to reduce the frequency of two ferry runs to Washington ports after the Labor Day weekend were announced yesterday.

Washington State Ferries will reduce the Sidney-Anacortes service Wednesday to two round trips daily. The winter schedule, with one round trip daily, will begin Oct. 13.

The Victoria-Port Angeles service will be cut to two round trips daily—noon and 4 p.m.—from Sept. 16. The service will continue through Sept. 28, when the service will close down for the winter.

End Long Waits

Keep Buses On Move BCE Told

The B.C. Electric Co. could make money during slack periods by providing more frequent service, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt claimed last night.

"Buses don't make any money sitting still," he said, adding it was very irritating for passengers to sit and "twiddle their thumbs" at the end of the bus loop.

MEETING SLATED

Reeve Wurtele is chairman of a special transportation subcommittee of the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee. He will meet with bus company representatives at the end of this month to discuss the effects of reduced bus services which went into effect June 8.

"In slack periods the buses can travel over their routes more quickly," he said. "Traffic is lighter and there are fewer and shorter stops to pick up or set down passengers."

LONG WAITS

"Consequently, buses have long waits at the ends of their runs before their schedules require them to begin again," he said. "It isn't the running of the bus that costs money, it's the operator's salary."

The suggestion that buses should be run on tighter schedules during slack periods was made by a number of persons who have written to Reeve Wurtele at Esquimalt municipal hall, giving their views on the reduced bus service.

Reeve Wurtele, at present, is the only remaining member of the transportation subcommittee. The other two members, former councillors Ralph Matthews of Oak Bay and Charles Nelles of Saanich both resigned their council seats recently. Other members will be appointed to the committee shortly.

Bursaries for 2,500

'Good News' Letters Sent to Students

More than 2,500 B.C. students have been sent letters informing them they have won provincial scholarships and bursaries ranging from $50 to $300.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson announced yesterday letters had been sent out Monday to all students successful in the competition for government scholarships and those awarded government bursaries. The awards, he said, would total more than $325,000.

No figures were available from his department on the number of awards won in any particular district.

Top Builders Coming Here During Tour

Top officials of the Canadian Construction Association will be in Victoria Sept. 15 during a five-week tour of western Canada.

Association president J. E. Harrington will be accompanied by several executive members. They will present briefs to the B.C. government on industry problems and developments.

Before coming to Victoria, the group will visit Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Shopping Mall

Translucent Covering For Alley?

Tenders will be called shortly for a translucent plastic roof which would make Tronca Alley the city's first covered shopping mall.

But only after bids are received will the proprietors of about a dozen stores along the Government Street-Broad Street shortcut decide whether or not to proceed with the project, according to its chief backer, George A. Barr.

Complete working drawings for the novel project have been prepared by a firm of city architects and soon will be in the hands of contractors. When a definite cost is known, Mr. Barr said, proprietors of the stores can proceed with financing plans.

Architect's estimates place the cost of the job between $12,000 and $20,000.

Ends of the Tronca Alley mall would be enclosed with glass and a wrought-iron decorative motif would be a feature of the interior.

The plastic roof would be tinted yellow to give the effect of year-round sunshine inside.

Mighty Jackson Ready for Fair

Alberni Man Breaks Leg When He Hurtles into Well

PORT ALBERNI—Meile Le Clair, 44, is in West Coast General Hospital here with a fractured leg and other injuries received when he fell into a 45-foot well yesterday at his Burde Street home.

Le Clair was injured when the scaffolding on which he was working gave way and he was toppled into the excavation. His wife saw the accident and phoned for help.

Lumber from the scaffolding kept him from drowning in six feet of water. Port Alberni volunteer firemen and RCMP made the rescue using a tractor and cable found in the vicinity.

DUNCAN—Kinsmen Club members are putting the finishing touches on their Babe Ruth ball park grandstand in Pioneer Park.

A work party was held last night to put on the structure that will hold 480 baseball fans. It is being built by Brownsey Bros. Construction Co., with club members who have worked 160-man hours at nine work parties.

When a few more small jobs attached to it are done, the club's portion of community development of the park will be completed. Wayne Griffith, project chairman, said yesterday $12,400 has been paid out on the diamond, backstop and grandstand during the last five years.

NANAIMO—Mamalian Pineau, a Nanaimo taxi driver, will not be able to follow his vocation for at least a year.

Pineau lost his licence for that period following a conviction for hit-and-run driving. He was also fined $125.

He had two previous convictions for impaired driving, this year.

PORT ALBERNI—Possibility of experimenting with summer school classes for elementary and secondary school students is being considered by district 70 school board.

The matter was referred to district superintendent D. G. Chamberlain for study and to be brought before the board again next April.

H. C. Ferguson, who attended his final board meeting Monday prior to his transfer to a mainland superintendency, reported on an investigation of the subject. He said that there is a doubt whether the district's enrollment is yet large enough to establish a summer school in terms of saving taxpayers' money.

He said it would be difficult to obtain instructors, who should be specialists in their subjects, for the number of courses which would be required. While it would be necessary to cover a wide range of subjects, only a comparatively small number of students would be enrolled in each class.

A possible total of 324 students of Grades 4 to 11 could profit by summer classes offering remedial work or designed to prevent failure in certain subjects, he said.

NANAIMO—Walter Taylor has replaced Mrs. Vida Williams as secretary of the Vancouver Island (Nanaimo) Zoological Society.

Appointment was made at Tuesday's meeting of the society when a report was made on extensive developments being undertaken at the Nanaimo zoo, near Wellington.

Among projects being undertaken is the enlargement of the parking lot, improvement of the picnic grounds, and cleaning of the lake.

LADYSMITH—The Ladysmith and District Agricultural Society at Monday's meeting furthered plans for the forthcoming annual fall fair to be held in the Agricultural Hall and grounds Sept. 18 and 19.

The local civil defence directed by Chief William Dabb will present a large fall-out display, and the Nanaimo Lapidary Society will have an interesting showing of rocks. Secretary-treasurer Mrs. A. M. Ames said today that no concessions have been taken over as yet, and points out that it is important to have reservations made as soon as possible.

All exhibits must be at the hall by Sept. 17. Mrs. Ames will be at the Lions Den to take entries on Sept. 5 and 12, and may also be contacted personally in this regard. All entries must be registered by Sept. 15.

Prize lists are ready for distribution.

President Clifford Williams is looking after rural interests encouraging farmers to show their produce. Field produce, vegetables, fruits and flowers; women's work and art sections will be represented.

DUNCAN—Attorney-General Robert Bonner will officially open the Cowichan Class B Exhibition here Sept. 11 at 2 p.m.

The cabinet minister who also holds the portfolio of minister of trade and commerce will substitute for Premier W. A. C. Bennett who was originally asked.

CORBLE HILL—Eleven-year-old Sheryl McKay was chosen to represent B.C. 4H Clubs last week to attend a special Pacific National Exhibition directors meeting.

Sheryl was picked because the sheep she displayed at the PNE won first prize for the yearling ewe, first in showmanship and second place for the best yearling lamb.

STRIKERS 'WILL NEVER BUY' DEUTSCH SETTLEMENT PLAN

Firms Cool, Too; No Solution Seen

Small hope for quick settlement of B.C.'s coast lumber strike was seen last night in the proposals of mediator Dr. John J. Deutsch.

On the major issue, wages, he recommended an increase of 10 cents an hour this year and 10 cents an hour next year.

But he reported to Labor Minister Lyle Wicks he had not been able to achieve agreement between the IWA District Council No. 1 and the employers represented by Forest Industrial Relations.

NOT JUSTIFIABLE

And John Billings, president of Forest Industrial Relations, said the 20-cent boost over two years was "higher than the industry could consider justifiable," although the proposal would be submitted to the individual companies.

Joe Morris, IWA district president, wouldn't comment pending consideration of the Deutsch report by the union policy committee.

But the president of the largest IWA local, Syd Thompson, said in Vancouver last weekend that the union "will never buy" a settlement of 20 cents an hour over two years.

HE WAS WRONG

If Dr. Deutsch was toying with the idea that this proposal would settle the strike, he said, he was wrong.

The 20 cents an hour would represent an 11.6 per cent increase in two years over the present minimum or base rate of $1.72, or a 9.5 per cent increase over the present average wage of $2.10.

The IWA originally sought an increase of 20 per cent, but reduced its demand to 12 per cent (or 21 cents this year) just before the $1,000,000-a-day strike began July 6. The operators' last offer was an increase of 12 cents over two years.

'I Love You All,' Says Ike To Cheering Frenchmen

PARIS (UPI)—More than 1,000,000 wildly cheering, flag waving Frenchmen gave President Eisenhower a hero's welcome yesterday when he returned to this French capital his armies liberated 15 years ago. The crowds shouted "Vive Ike" and the delighted president thanked them in French with the words, "I love you all."

It was the most dazzling and colorful welcome the U.S. president had received on his historic swing through western European capitals.

The welcome built up gradually. The crowds that greeted Eisenhower on his drive from the airport to the heart of

'Cage Them Like Wild Animals' Says Priest of Street Gangsters

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police seized a teenaged "Dracula" yesterday for the street gang slayings of two boys which raised a demand for jailing of all the city's 7,000 juvenile gang members.

A prominent Roman Catholic priest paused during the funeral mass of one of the stabbing victims to appeal for mass arrests of street toughs and denounce "do-gooders" who say there is no such thing as a bad boy. He said the gang members should be caged "like wild animals."

The attack by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. McCaffrey came only a few hours after Salvatore Agron, a 16-year-old tough-talking effeminate-looking "Dracula" dictator of the Vampires gang, was arrested with his chief lieutenant, a tattooed tough known as "the umbrella man" because he beats his victims with an umbrella. Both are Puerto Ricans.

"I don't care if I burn," Agron snarled at police. "My mother can watch."

Agron and 17-year-old Tony Luis Hernandez, "the umbrella man," were arrested after a policeman found them foraging for food in a garbage can near the vacant Bronx tenement where they had holed up since the Sunday slayings in an unlighted playground in Manhattan's Hell's Kitchen area.

Juvenile Crimes Soaring

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI director J. Edgar Hoover reported yesterday that the number of juveniles arrested for serious crimes rose by 8.1 per cent last year. Their offenses helped push the national crime rate 9.3 per cent above 1957.
